Era ends

◆ The Antioch Rescue Squad will no longer depend solely on volunteers

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Rescue Squad, the last all volunteer department in Lake County, has decided to hire a contractual service for weekday hours.

"We really needed this to continue providing prompt response on a daily basis," said Tim Osmond, president of the rescue squad.

Osmond added the day hours were becoming increasingly tough to man because of volunteers' job demands. The rescue squad depended entirely on volunteers until now.

The decision was made to contract with Metro Rescue Services to provide trained personnel from 5 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays to Fridays, beginning in early January, according to Osmond. At least two people will be serving during this time.

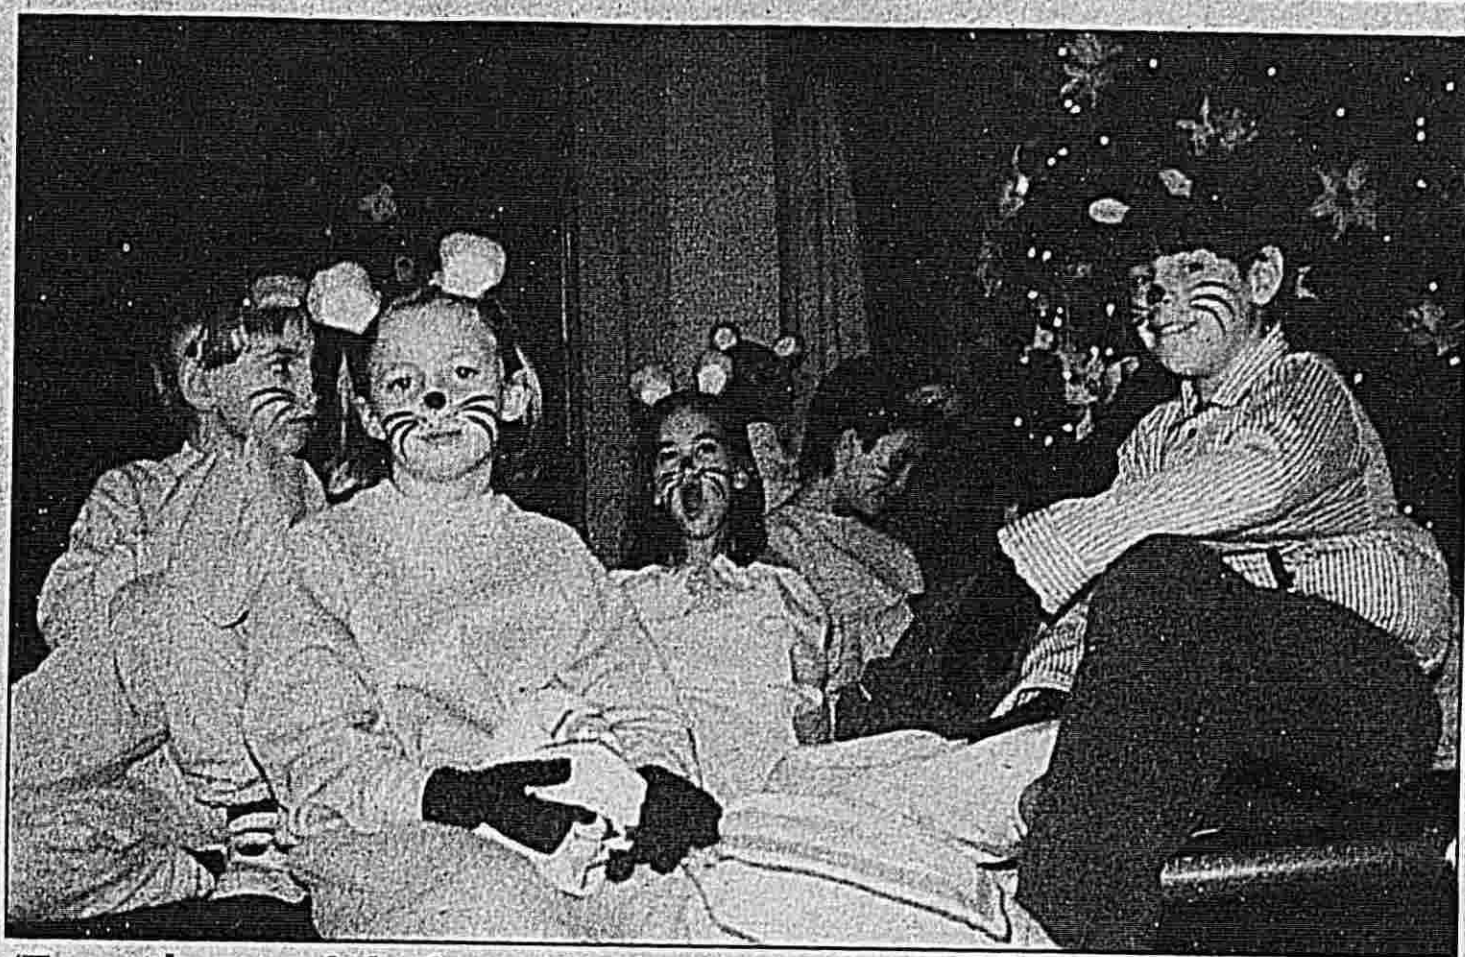

Metro also is providing service to Gurnee, Fox Lake, Grayslake and Round Lake.

The service will cost $85,000 to $90,000 a year. A majority of the costs are expected to be financed through user fees.

An advantage to the contracted help is the village doesn't have to pay benefits to these employees.

The squad will charge a fee to non-residents. Antioch Township residents still won't have to pay.

Osmond indicated the fee will be based on the severity of the injury and medical attention. See RESCUE page A10

Sheriff seeks hit and run clues

It's been almost three weeks and an Antioch Township resident remains in critical condition after being struck by a vehicle.

Walter Erickson, 32, of Antioch Township, is in critical condition at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge. He can only blink to communicate from injuries sustained from the Nov. 30 accident, according to his sister, Diane Erickson.

"We are looking for help from anyone who thinks they may have seen something," Erickson said.

Lake County Sheriff's Department is still looking for the hit-and-run driver.

The accident occurred sometime between 6-6:30 p.m. while Erickson was walking back from a store on the side of Grass Lake Road about 1/8 mile east of Bluff Lane.

He is still heavily sedated. He had to have his spleen removed and had internal injuries. He has a broken left hip, left elbow and fractured pelvis.

He was flown to Lutheran General by a Flight For Life Helicopter.

"It is an hour-by-hour process," Diane said of the incident. She and her sister, Joanne, have been driving down to Lutheran General every day to see their injured brother.

The Sheriff's Department is still waiting for information from the state crime lab. Evidence was taken from the scene.

"We are looking for broken glass, paint spots, anything that would give a clue to what happened," said Cpl. Thomas Braze.

Anyone with any information that could help solve this case is urged to call Crimestoppers at 662-2222 or the Lake County Sheriff's Department at 680-6300.

Six Antioch Community High School teachers were recognized for being among the nation's best educators.

The selected teachers are: Roger Alm, Judi Logan, Lauri Hargrove, Ann Kakacek, Jim Curtis and Sue Schmitt. They were tabbed in the "Who's Who of American Teachers." All of them shared why they enjoy their profession.

"I like watching them learn more than they think they can learn," Kakacek said.

Kakacek is in charge of Wisdom Hall, a place where students go to get help with their homework and find resources for their work.

She has taught at the high school for 23 years. Her grandson is the fourth generation attending the school.

Hargrove was also named "Health Educator of the Year" for the state by the Illinois Association of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance (IAHPERD). One of the reasons she earned that title is the first year of an innovative self-help program called personal power.

She was also cited for being a positive role model, utilizing various teaching methodologies, planning innovative learning experiences and conducting a balanced and sequential curriculum.

Township not ready to put sewers on April ballot

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Township trustees decided against putting a question regarding sewers in Antioch Township in a non-binding referendum.

One of the ways this issue could get on the April ballot is if the township board placed it on the ballot. However, after much discussion, no one offered a motion to vote on the issue.

After the release of a sewer study in unincorporated areas, several residents have expressed interest in getting this issue on the April ballot to gauge public support for the plan. However, some trustees, including supervisor candidate Tim Osmond, are hesitant to bring the issue to vote at this time.

"I don't feel there is enough information available for the voters to make an educated decision," Osmond said.

He questioned whether a feasibility study done by Bob Devery Engineering for the Lake County Board, will provide an accurate picture of what it may cost the 5,400 residents who could hook on.

"I don't know if the $11,000 fee to hook up is accurate. The cost could be $18,000," Osmond said.

The cost estimate used by Carol Jonites, president of United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA) and supervisor candidate, and County Board Representative Judy Martini is the estimate from the feasibility study.

The total hookup estimate is $14,255 which includes hookup, connection fee and abandonment of septic systems.

Jonites said UHAUA wants to find out first and foremost if the public is interested in having sewers in the first place.

"We don't want to proceed with this until we hear what the people want," Jonites said.

She added if the board is unwilling to put the proposition on the ballot, UHAUA will consider a petition for a special service area for all affected homeowners.

Both Osmond and Jonites acknowledge a non-binding referendum vote would include all township residents, including village residents who aren't affected by it.

Osmond also questioned if residents would have to use the expensive Wisconsin Mound system if they must replace septic as some literature has suggested.

Trustee Claudette Skvarce brought up the issue for discussion. She didn't even attempt a motion for a vote.

Township, organizations provide Christmas baskets

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Township and two civic organizations are again combining to provide a delicious Christmas meal to needy residents.

Between the township, Antioch Rotary Club and Antioch Lions Club, an estimated 105 holiday food baskets will be distributed to the needy.

"We've added more because we have had a lot of phone calls," said Kathleen Smith, of Antioch Township.

The names were provided from schools, from the families themselves, or from people who knew needy families.

The organizations also combine to provide Thanksgiving food baskets.

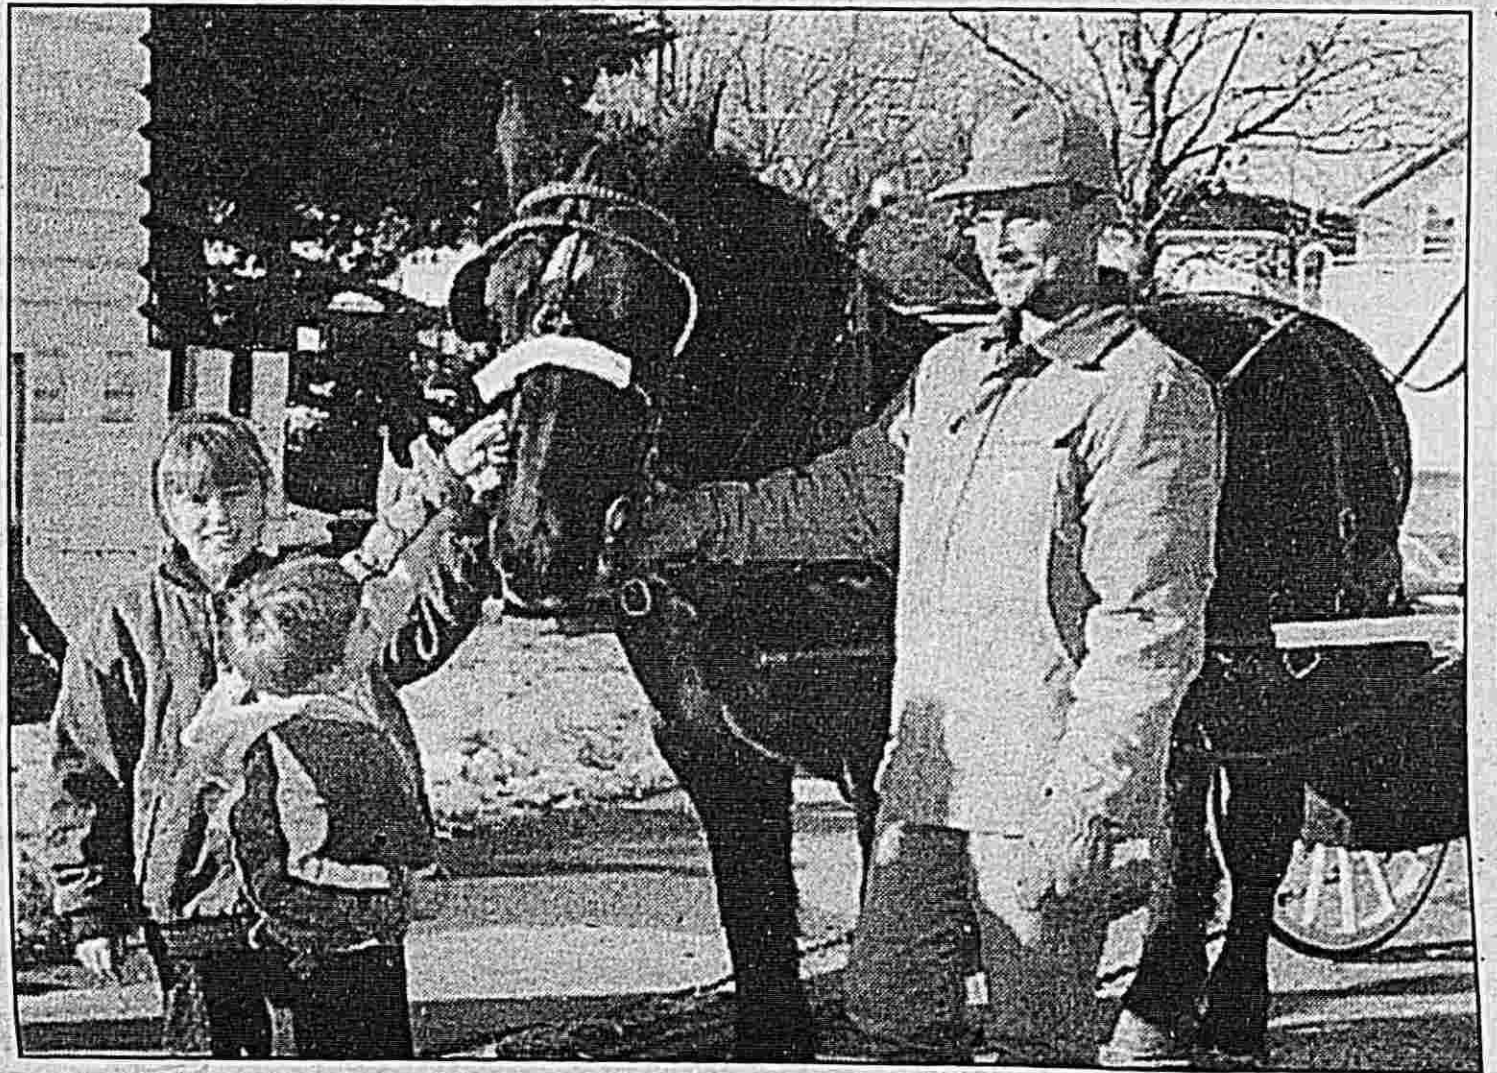

For many years they have worked together to ensure those who have little can enjoy a special Christmas dinner with their family.

The meal will consist of ham, scalloped potatoes, sweet potatoes, carrots and apple pie.

The food will be provided by the Antioch Share Food Program.

The baskets are filled by township employees. Volunteers coordinate the baskets and distribute them directly to the families from the two clubs.

The baskets will be distributed Dec. 21.

Board seeks end to horn lawsuit

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch Village Board has a hearing Jan. 15 in Lake County Circuit Court on their motion to dismiss them from a lawsuit filed by seven village residents seeking an injunction on train whistle blowing.

The board maintains it has no jurisdiction and shouldn't be involved in the suit. It was named, along with Wisconsin Central and Metra in the suit filed about a month ago.

"We have no legal right to be named," explained Village Attorney Kenneth Clark.

He reiterated what Mayor

Marilyn Shineflug has already stated, that the village doesn't have the authority to regulate railroads, only the Illinois Commerce Commission (ICC) does.

Clark further explained trains are required to blow their whistles at all intersections based on the Swift Railroad Act in 1994.

The residents who filed the suit feel the railroads are violating village nuisance ordinances because the horns are above 90 decibels.

They hope the suit will stop the whistles temporarily until they can get legislation to stop the horn blowing. Their attorneys claim the ICC already has "excused" Wisconsin Central from horn blowing at all Antioch crossings.

They interpret excused in a strict sense while the village interprets excused as something entirely different than banning.

Village officials are hopeful they will be dismissed from the suit at the hearing.

In a related matter, the mayoral task force of municipalities along the Wisconsin Central didn't vote on a request of Wisconsin Central to refrain from whistle blowing from 10:30 p.m.-5 a.m..

"We wanted to get more information from our attorneys," Shineflug said.

Antioch offers monthly parking pass

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Antioch trustees approved allowing monthly parking passes for Metra train commuters.

Village administrator Tim Wells said at least four or five commuters have asked about a monthly pass. Trustees concurred with Wells that this would be a convenience the village could provide passengers.

"It's for the convenience of the commuters. That is what this is all about," said Trustee Dorothy Larson.

Wells said commuters have a difficult time coming up with $1.50 every day.

Wells suggested a $30 monthly fee based on 20 days of use. There would be no refunds.

He mentioned they could not block particular spaces for monthly pass users. He said it would still be a first come-first served basis.

Trustees agreed to have Wells decide how many passes would be issued based on how much interest there is for the plan.

Wells said he hopes to have the passes ready to go for January or at least by mid-January.

The village still would limit the passes if necessary. There are 112 spaces in the front lot and in the pavilion location.

"We want to leave some spaces for new residents," Wells said. In a related matter, the board received a report from Metra indicating how many commuters are using the North Central Service Line which extends to downtown Chicago and O'Hare International Airport.

"We have about 40 cars a day who park in the lot," Wells explained.

He added there are about 80-82 people a day who use the train service.

The village also will purchase video cameras to monitor the station from the police department. The goal is to reduce any possible vandalism to the station.

Wells reported a no-smoking sign was removed.

Emmons levy reflects growth

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Emmons school board is seeking a 17 percent levy increase, however the district doesn't expect to receive all of the money requested.

The board is asking for $1,403,392 compared with $1,210,058 collected last year. The amount seems much higher, but the board will be limited in how much it will receive because of the state imposed property tax cap, according to Superintendent Matt Tabar.

"We are trying to maintain the fiscal integrity of the district,"

Tabar said.

Tabar explained the board expects about a 10 percent increase in new residents. He said the growth rate has been running at about 10 percent the last few years.

He noted phase II of Heron Harbor and other new residents contributed to that number.

The board must levy at a high number to ensure these residents are added to tax rolls. Otherwise, the district is stuck with less revenue than it should have.

If the district fails to project the new homes, it will not be able to levy on those properties which places more of the burden on current taxpayers.

Tabar explained the board's main concern relating to the levy is making sure the district gets all that it is entitled to receive.

The board held a levy hearing Dec. 17, 7 p.m., at the school.

The levy must be submitted to the Lake County Clerk's office by the end of December. The district is entitled to receive the new growth numbers and a 3 percent cost of living increase from existing taxpayers.

The Clerk's office will let the district know how much has been approved in the spring.

Carmel High School teachers recognized

Several teachers at Carmel High School have been recognized with awards from various universities and colleges for their impact as educators and for the inspiration they have been to students with whom they have worked.

An award from Tufts University was bestowed upon Marianne Barker, science teacher; an award from the University of Chicago was bestowed upon Lynn Strutzell, English teacher; and an award from Edgewood College was bestowed upon Dr. Robert Watson, mathematics teacher; an award from Western Illinois University was bestowed upon Michael Fitzgibbons, religion teacher.

These teachers are described as educators who "opened new vistas and realms of discovery, challenged students intellectually and challenged them into productive paths for growth."

Little Saints Daycare receives gold award

The Little Saints Daycare and Preschool, located on the campus of Carmel High School, has been awarded the Gold Award by the Dr. Jane Goodall/Roots and Shoots Achievement Awards Program.

Little Saints received this award for impressive work in the areas of care and concern for the environment, non-human animals, and other people. The work being done was described by Dr. Jane Goodall, Ph.D. as "inspirational," and "a great example for all of the members of the Roots and Shoots network."

In her work with these young people, the Director of Little Saints, Patti Dowling, emphasizes the importance of making the world a better place. She feels that a child is never too young to understand that he/she can make a difference.

Thul's scores 22, but CHS falls

Gaining open looks at the basket from several different spots on the floor, Tina Thul scored 22 points to lead Carmel to an upset attempt in a girls basketball clash at Marian Catholic.

Carmel could not quite pull off the upset in a 65-53 loss.

"Tina got some of her shots from the post, but it rotated. She also got some of her shots from facing the basket," Carmel coach Larry Whittier said.

Heather Walsh had 15 points for CHS, including a pair of three-pointers.

Marian had 4 three-pointers and that was a factor in the close East Suburban Conference game.

Carmel drops to 3-6 overall. The Corsairs are at Joliet Catholic Dec. 21.

"We just have to regroup. We had some good looks at the basket, but they did not go in," Whittier said.

Carmel is at the Crystal Lake Central tournament starting Dec. 27.

Fire Marshall offers holiday safety tips

He's checkin' his list and checkin' it twice. He's gonna find out who's naughty and who's been practicing fire safety. This year, don't let fire prevent your holidays from being happy ones. Please be attentive to the fire hazards inherent to the winter holidays.

According to the Office of the Illinois State Fire Marshall, Christmas trees and decorations pose special fire risks. Twenty-nine residential structure fires related to holiday decorations were reported in Illinois for 1995. Fires related to holiday decorations in 1995, injured five people and caused nearly a half of a million dollars in property damage.

The National Fire Protection Assn. reports that more than 500 fires per year have been started by ignition of Christmas trees, causing an average of 16 deaths, 81 injuries and more than $10 million in property damage throughout the nation. The United State Fire Administration reports that from 1987 to 1991, Christmas trees were involved in an average of 1,270 fires each of those years.

State Fire Marshal Thomas L. Armstead warns, "Although the holidays are a time for festive decorations and parties, Illinois citizens must pay attention to holiday fire hazards and take the proper safety precautions."

OSFM offers a number of suggestions to help make homes fire safe for Hanukkah, Christmas and New Year's.

When using fresh trees, choose ones that have non-brittle, flexible needles. Fresh trees should be stored out-of-doors until it is time to decorate them. When brought in, the tree should have the bottom two inches cut off its trunk. Fresh trees should be placed in deep, non-tip stands and should be watered frequently. All trees should be placed away from heat sources and should never block exits. Artificial trees should carry the label of a recognized laboratory such as the UL safety-seal. Decorative lights should never be used on metallic trees. Candles should never be used on trees.

All holiday lighting should also carry a testing laboratory's label.

Light strings should always be inspected for worn insulation, broken plugs or loose bulbs and sockets. All electrical decorations including lights should be turned off before leaving home or going to bed.

Other holiday fire safety tips include:

- Use only flame-retardant or non-combustible decorations.
- Use candles cautiously. Keep them away from other decorations or other combustible materials. Be sure all children know the dangers of candles.

How did I come to know many amazing people

'Tis the season to be jolly and receive so many wonderful Christmas cards from your friends and loved ones. You find your mail is full of holiday greetings, warm wishes for a Happy New Year, and those cheerful wallet size family portraits of all your happy, smiling relatives and friends.

You have to wonder where they rent the kids in those pictures, surely those smiling faces can't be any relatives of yours. Accompanying those greetings are those annoying Christmas letters that make your life seem about as mundane as picking the lint from between your toes. How is it that everyone you know seems to have a purpose in life, or has accomplished major milestones over the past year, or are exalted with children who excel in everything.

Is everyone out there so full of themselves or are they truly blessed beyond belief. Is there anything more face-slapping, than spending a chaotic evening with your unruly children, only to put them to bed and then pick up the days mail which includes a letter from your cousin Vinnie describing all the accolades and attributes of his model children, his spouse, their jobs, and social calendar.

While your children lay snuggled in their beds, your nieces and nephews are out there conquering the world. If you think about it though, these egotistical letters are a much better option than being subjected to those grueling slide show presentations of the family's summer vacation to Idaho to follow the flight of some worldly butterfly.

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

LYNN

395-6364

Wouldn't you for once, like to receive a letter in a Christmas card that really laid it on the line as to how uneventful some relatives life truly was over the past year.

Wouldn't it truly brighten your spirits, to hear the low down on what really is going on in your cousin Sheila's life? It is called the holiday of good cheer-well what could give you a way-down-in-your-belly warm glow more than the misery of your own loved ones. We are a society that thrives on those less fortunate and worse off than ourselves, makes us look at our own pathetic lives and think, "Hey maybe my life isn't so meaningless and pitiful".

The Postmaster General should ban those outrageous braggy letters from our annoying acquaintances. The should be a post office rule written somewhere that only allow for humorous, lay-it-on-the-line jargon in these festive, glib greeting cards-maybe they wouldn't be so many disgruntled postal employees. Do we really want to hear about what prestigious awards little Sal walked off with while playing Bach Concerto at Carnegie Hall. Do we want it shoved in our face that young Jimmy clinched a full scholarship to Harvard for his contributions to medical science. Let's hear about how many hours little Johnny put in after school in detention, or how many times mom and dad were called in for a visit with little Janie's school principal. We want to hear the stuff that makes our own "Monster Babies" look like Little Bo Peep sheep.

So to all of you out there who feel absolutely compelled each year to spell out your life in black and white (or color with the aid of a modern computer printer) for all your Christmas Card recipients, please, oh please be considerate this year and just sign your name at the bottom of the greeting card along with the rest of the uninteresting public. Merry Christmas and to all a good night. And so goes another "Jingle From Pringle-don't forget to call 395-6364.

Chamber hops on information highway

Antioch Chamber of Commerce has hit the information superhighway in a big way.

The chamber now is on the Worldwide Web, a site on the Internet, or information superhighway. The chamber will have all the information computer buffs need to know about what's going on in the community.

"What was once a thought, is now a reality," said Ed Cimiglio, chamber president.

The chamber's web page will be packed with information about Antioch and a listing of the entire membership.

Members who have their own web page will be highlighted and linked through the chamber's page.

"This is a marketing tool. Businesses, corporate offices and people that are planning on moving to Northern Illinois, from anywhere in the world will have the information at their fingertips," Cimiglio said.

There will also be a location on (Waterways, Entertainment and Tourism (WET's). It will cover the Chain O' Lakes, with information for those planning a fishing trip, or boating location. Resorts, marinas, food establishments, motels, shopping, antiques and services will be listed.

The pages will continually change as more items are added. The events page will cover community activities, civic organizations, and village functions.

"This is exciting. Antioch is a great community. Not only a great environment to live in, but a great location for the business world as well. Located between Milwaukee & Chicago, close to expressways, two international airports to choose from, open lands and lakes all around. A downtown that is prosperous and growing, and has an ambiance of a community that works together. A village that cares about its people and businesses. We are proud of our community and have an abundance of information to share. Anyone searching the web can just pull up our page and find out what's going on," Cimiglio said.

The service was provided by Lake Online.

The web page will be located at <http://www.lake-online.com/antioch>. The e-mail address is antioch@lake-online.com.

Youth Horse Leader Conference scheduled

This program is designed for anyone involved in youth development using the horse. It is a unique opportunity for 4-H horse club leaders, breed and discipline club leaders, youth horse activity participants and horse enthusiasts from across Illinois to combine teaching, learning, business and fun into one trip.

The program will begin on Saturday, Jan. 11 at 8:30 a.m. at Jumer's. Saturday morning will be devoted to an interactive idea session for youth participants and workshops for adult leaders. Saturday afternoon and Sunday will feature educational seminars, panels, displays and committee reports.

Registration fees of $35 per adult and $20 per youth include a Saturday night reception and hors d'oeuvres, and Sunday morning breakfast. Registration forms, schedules, etc. may be obtained by contacting Kevin Kline, Extension Specialist, Horses, 388 Animal Sciences Lab, 1207 W. ## Red Cross seeks volunteers

The American Red Cross is holding a cookie and party favor drive for the Naval Hospital at Great Lakes, and the Veteran's Hospital in North Chicago.

Red Cross volunteers at the hospitals hold parties for the patients and provide fun and support for those who are shut-in during the holiday season. Any groups that are interested in providing cookies and other treats, or party favors for the veteran's, contact the Mundelein Service Center of the American Red Cross.

Volunteers are also needed to support the Red Cross visitation program at the Veteran's Hospital in North Chicago. The program provides volunteers to read to the patients, write letters, hold parties, and provide comfort.

The veteran's are most appreciative of the help, caring and generosity of the volunteers who care for them, and that includes the volunteers who bake especially for them. This program needs and deserves the support of the community. For more information, call American Red Cross at 949-1000.

Responsibility key to safe snowmobile season

With the arrival of winter in Illinois, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is reminding operators to use common sense when snowmobiling this season. The DNR in cooperation with various snowmobile clubs, park districts, schools, and other groups offers snowmobile safety education courses.

"Winter is a wonderful time to go outdoors, and take advantage of the snow," says State Sen. William Peterson. "However, many activities require care and supervision, and snowmobiling is no exception."

Safety courses are required of youths age 12 to 16 who want to operate a snowmobile alone. Children ages 10 and 11 may operate a snowmobile only if they are accompanied on the sled by an adult. Children under the age of 10 are prohibited from operating a snowmobile, even if under the direct supervision of an adult.

Last season, 36 snowmobile accidents resulted in 23 injuries and five fatalities in Illinois. Alcohol was a factor in two of the five deaths. Other contributing factors were excessive speed and poor visibility. A majority of accidents occur as a result of collisions with fixed objects such as trees, fences, stumps, rocks, logs and other objects hidden or obscured by the snow, said Peterson (R-Long Grove.)

For information on safety education classes in your area, contact the DNR Safety Education Section Springfield Office 1 (800) 832-2599 or the DNR regional office near you in Rock Falls, Springfield, Champaign, Alton and Benton, or the DNR's Lake Michigan Operations at Winthrop Harbor.

The DNR maintains hundreds of miles of public trails open to snowmobiling at state parks and recreation areas. More than 1,000 miles of additional trails for public use are made available by local snowmobile clubs on private lands.

New preschool comes to underserved area

ELIZABETH EAKEN
Staff Reporter

Circle time, story time and new friends will someday be fond memories for the little tykes who will soon take their first big step away from babyhood and into the world of academia when the doors of "Tomorrow's Future" preschool open.

The new preschool will begin classes Jan. 6 at St. Mark's Lutheran Church, located at the intersection of Yorkhouse and Delany roads in Waukegan. It's privately owned and not affiliated with the church. It was founded by Kathy Godlewski and Janet Kwilosz, who will both teach, and Katie Maki will be their assistant.

"We all feel it's real important for kids to know learning is fun... If they have a good base, they will do well later on," Godlewski said of their teaching philosophy.

The preschool area is decorated for children and features several centers for art, math and language.

"We give the children freedom to choose whether they want to play in the centers but also have structure with circle time and the calendar," Godlewski explained.

The curriculum will be all inclusive. Godlewski said, as an example, if they were making a snowman as an art project they would count the circles and so forth to incorporate math and other skills into the project.

"If they only come one day we enforce it throughout the curriculum," she explained.

The fun part of the preschool for the children will be the centers separated by shelving, according to Godlewski.

"We'll have a drama play area with dress up, a reading center with lots and lots of books and we'll read to them and they can check them out," she explained.

As part of the language/reading center there will be several books available for children to check out and they'll have special books to coincide with what they're studying. One of the first things they will focus on is polar bears, according to Godlewski. They will also have a flannel board and puppets.

A big focus of the teachers will be allowing the children to make their own books out of pictures.

They also want to get the children interested in keeping journals with pictures as a way to interest them in reading.

A typical day at the preschool will start with a common preschool element — circle time where they will talk about the weather and calendar. If someone brings something to share, they will show the class and if it's a child's birthday, everyone will sing.

"We'll talk about what day of the week it is and the month," she said. For instance if the date was the twelfth they'd ask the children what numbers come before and after and they ask them to describe the weather outside. "We try to get them familiar with numbers and will do that every day."

Godlewski said the facility will be certified by the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. All three have experience working with children.

She has worked at Allendale, a home for children with behavior disorders, the YMCA of Mundelein and at Parents Day Out in the United Methodist Church in Antioch. Kwilosz will receive her degree in elementary education before January and is also certified to teach special education classes. Maki worked at Parents Day Out with Godlewski.

The women knew there was a need for a preschool in the area and looked for a long time until they found a space they approved.

They discovered the church through Maki's in-laws who attend services there and lease the preschool room.

The school will offer classes for children ages three- to six-years-old five days a week. Parents may choose how many days a week they wish to have their children in school. Sessions will be offered in the morning from 8:45-11:30 a.m. and in the afternoon from noon-2:45. Tuition is $12 per session with reduced rates depending on the number of days per week children attend.

A convenient feature of the preschool for parents with other children is the drop off. Godlewski explained parents just drive through the circle and the teachers come out to the cars to bring the children inside. For more information in the school call 625-1156.

Linden Plaza welcomes Mexican restaurant

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

For the first time, Lindenhurst residents can enjoy an authentic Mexican Restaurant.

Baja Burrito Boys is open for business in the Lindenhurst Plaza. Of course, burritos are their specialty.

Burritos start at $3.25 each. There are four choices of meat, chicken, steak, chorizo or bean. They are served in three styles: original, tex mex and fajita.

What attracted the owners to this site is the lack of Mexican restaurants or variety of restaurants.

"There are no Mexican restaurants," said Manager Carmine Ciarletta. "There is nothing to eat in this town but pizza."

They are located in the space which was once occupied by Squeenies Weenies.

They also offer other Mexican delights such as fajitas and tacos. "We serve it fresh and fast,"

Ciarletta said proudly.

All of the ingredients are homemade at the restaurant.

The restaurant has been open a little more than a month.

"We have been very busy. I have been working a lot of hours," Ciarletta joked.

The restaurant is open from 10:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. during weekdays and from 10:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. on weekends.

Carryouts are also welcomed. To place orders, call 265-1411.

required. He said it will be comparable to surrounding communities such as Lake Villa Township, Fox Lake and Salem.

While the program is designed to be self-supporting, Osmond said the squad still needs the community to support fund raisers to finance new equipment needs.

He mentioned there will still be times when volunteers will be needed during daytime hours. The squad is averaging between two to four calls a day. Accidents with multiple injuries will demand volunteer assistance.

Officials have been discussing this for about nine months before making a decision.

Interested students must be residents of Lake or McHenry counties and enrolled at least part-time in a pre-engineering, engineering technology or computer-assisted design or drafting program at CLC. Preference will be given to minority applicants and members of the CLC Engineering Club.

Applicants must submit a CLC scholarship application, a college transcript and a brief essay describing career goals. Applications are available in the financial aid office, B114. For information, call 223-3610.

"It helps improve self-esteem, goal setting and problem-solving skills," Hargrove said of personal power.

She added teaching health is fairly easy because students really seem to want to know the information.

"They enjoy it because it is about them," she added.

Logan and Schmitt say they use current technology to make English more interesting to students.

"I try to use the computers. This year I have them doing research on the Internet," Schmitt said.

"I love working with teenagers. Teenagers are really a fun age group," Logan, a 12-year teacher said.

Curtis, a 27-year teacher, said he actually enjoys teaching students who are considered or may have been labeled problem students.

"I seem to get along with them. I don't have a problem with them. I like to give them a challenge," Curtis said.

He teaches geography and government. In geography, he focuses on what makes each culture use hands-on activities such as mock trials and a mock senate.

"The more involvement you get, the more they will retain," Curtis said.

Roger Alm, a 24-year teacher at the school, is a math and computer science instructor. He has a masters Degree in Computer Science. He enjoys the analytic nature of computers.

"I like the way the computer generates a program and I like algorithmic solution," Alm said.

He said he attempts to keep students interested in math by bringing out what he knows and doing it as enthusiastically as possible.

The teachers were selected based on letters from students who attained "Who's Who Among American Students."

CLC presents college information

The College of Lake County will present two information sessions on courses and programs CLC will offer in the spring semester. The first session will be held at 7 p.m. Jan. 9 at the Civic Center, 135 W. Church St., Libertyville. The second session will be held at 7 p.m. Jan. 14 at Elia Area Library meeting room, 135 S. Buesching in Lake Zurich.

The sessions will be presented by Nancy McGuire, CLC's student recruitment liaison. She will provide information about spring credit and non-credit courses, student support services, financial aid and admission requirements. Spring class schedules, college catalogs and applications will be available. For information, call McGuire at 223-6601, ext. 2285.

Rams show talent depth, pull away from Wauconda

Everyone on the Grayslake High bench was moved up a notch and that depth of talent paid off.

The Rams downed Wauconda behind the perimeter shooting of Keigh Walsh's 23 point effort and the one-two senior leadership of Aaron Clark and Chris Wirsing who combined for 26 more points in a 74-48 win over Wauconda.

Dan Burau, the Rams' center, was not available for the NWSC clash, but Clark responded with 12 rebounds.

"The kids just picked it up the intensity. Wirsing shot real well for the game and we dominated on the rebounds," Rams coach Greg Groth said.

The Rams reestablished the perimeter shot with Walsh's 3 three-point baskets and a pair by Wirsing and one by Aaron Cooney. "The last couple of games, we have not had much from the threes, but we worked hard on that in practice. I think a lot of our success comes from practicing hard and the play of Eddie Witt and Tim Kelly," Groth said.

Ryan Gilliland, a 6-6 forward, contributed 6 rebounds and a pair of free throws. Reserve Bill Stang (4 points) also has played well, he said.

The Rams entertained the home crowd with a 24-8 fourth period run for a 5-2 overall record, 2-1 NWSC.

John Lindsey and Jeff Gertz were the one-two punch for Wauconda, scoring a combined 31 of the 48 points. "There is a lot of pressure on them to score. They are both good players - Gertz is one of the best all-around players," Groth said.

The NWSC race is up-for-grabs again as Round Lake lost to Grant. The Rams host Marian Central (1-2 NWSC) on Dec. 20. Wauconda (2-4, 0-3) hosts Grant.

"They got on an 11-point run in the second quarter and it was too steep a wall for us to climb and we had to shoot three-point shots," Wauconda coach Don Pieper said.

Lindsey scored 18 points on 9 field goals. "This was the first game he has had a pop in his step since spraining an ankle. Gertz had a nice solid all-around effort," Pieper said.

The Rams enjoyed a huge lead at the free-throw line, 16-2.

Sequoits hoping home magic continues vs. Mundelein

A dramatic win could not be followed with an encore performance and the Antioch High boys basketball team had to settle for a split in North Suburban Conference games.

Coach Jeff Dresser's team saves its best basketball for the home fans. The 3-4, 1-2 NSC team won another exciting game at home, 57-54 over Stevenson but once it left the friendly confines, the Sequoits could not stop Lake Forest's marksmanship in a 65-50 loss.

The Sequoits host Mundelein, also 1-2 in the NSC, at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20.

Freshman Don Lackey's rebound basket gave the Sequoits a lead in the waning seconds and two Mike Nielsen free throws sealed the win over the Patriots Friday.

"We were pleased with the way we played the whole game. Our intensity was up and the kids did the things we asked them to do," Dresser said.

Lackey was not the first option on the key possession, but his turned out to be the best look on a 14-point night.

"We wanted to run a play for Chris Groth, but Lackey was wide open," Dresser said.

The Sequoits held the Pats scoreless for three minutes as they mounted a first-half comeback from a 9-point deficit. A 17-6 second quarter run gave ACHS a 29-23 halftime lead.

"We did a nice job limiting their offensive rebounds. They had 5 in the first half and we did a nice job the rest of the way," Dresser said.

ACHS was led by Groth's 15 points. Dave Gooch had 10.

An overall team effort in better free-throw shooting resulted in a 19-of-22 effort. Kevin Chudd was 4-of-4; Groth

5-of-6; Gooch 2-of-2; Nielsen 5-of-6. "We worked a lot on free-throws in practice and it carried over to the game," Dresser said.

ACHS was 8-of-11 against Lake Forest from the charity stripe, but that could not offset other deficits.

Nothing good carried over into the second half of the game at Lake Forest. The Scouts improved a 10-point-half-time lead by nine with even better three-point shooting.

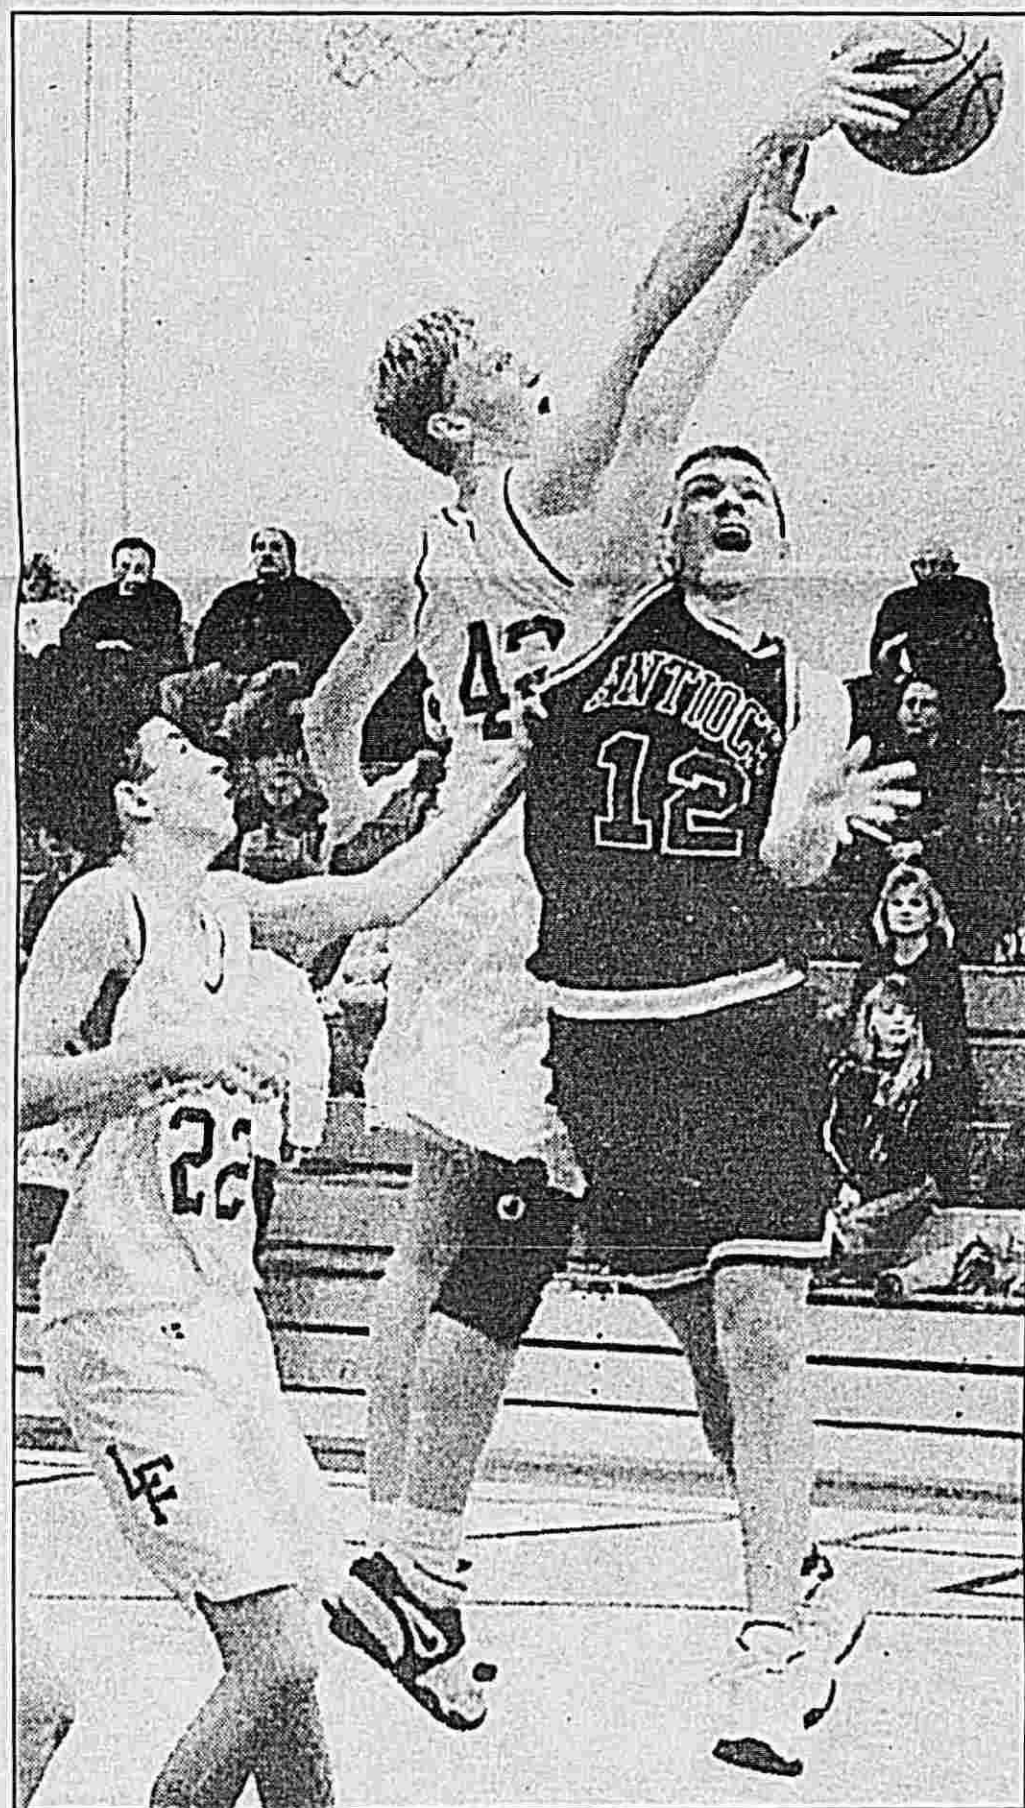

"They made 7 three-pointers on us in the first half. They kept jacking them up in the second half. A young team or not, there is no excuse for that," Dresser said.

Groth had 18 points and Gooch 13 for Antioch.

But a win against Mundelein would give ACHS a 4-4 record heading into the Rockford holiday tournament.

Young wrestlers gain experience in NSC tests

An undermanned Antioch High wrestling squad is finding the first round of North Suburban Conference dual matches to be learning experiences.

Injury and illness have prevented the Sequoits from fielding a full team of late, hence an uncharacteristic 0-3 NSC start. ACHS is at the two-day Glenbrook South meet Dec. 20-21.

Although the squad has fallen on tough times, individuals do stand out.

They include Ryan Hlinak at 112 pounds; Bob English at 119; Joe Brandimore at 135; and Mike Burion at 140-145.

"The younger guys are showing some improvement. They will gain some experience before we get over this injury and illness hump," ACHS coach Ted Sieckowski said.

He said those wrestlers gaining wins are helping out the younger wrestlers in the practice room.

In a 36-19 loss to Lake Forest, Hlinak gained a major decision win at 112; English won 8-1 at 119; Brandimore gained a pin in 2:52 at 130; Burion won by pin at 145.

In a 45-23 loss to Stevenson, Hlinak continued to gain the victories with a technical fall at 112; Brandimore won a hard-fought 8-5 win over Nick DeMarco at 135. Rob Kioldasa gained a :57 pin at 189 for ACHS.

The win was historic for Stevenson. "It was the first time we defeated Antioch in 10 years," coach Lino Martinez said.

7 intense players enough to gain ACHS win

Antioch High girls basketball coach Dave Woods did not have a whole lot of company on the bench.

But the way the Sequoits played in a 39-25 win over Mundelein, seven players with heart proved more than enough in the North Suburban Conference win.

"The girls went out and proved to themselves that they could play well on the road in a conference game," Woods said.

ACHS evened its mark at 2-2 in the NSC thanks to some timely perimeter baskets and always tough defense.

Illness limited the Sequoits making the trip to Mundelein on Tuesday.

Carrie Gofron had 15 points and Nicole Langley 9 for ACHS's effort.

Antioch made 7-of-10 field goal tries in the first quarter, 3-of-6 in the second period to build up a 13-point halftime lead. A key shot was a three-point basket by Gofron and an earlier three by Langley.

"Carrie sank a 20-footer at the buzzer," Woods said.

Also contributing on offense was Aja Brown with 5 points, Jeanna Miller and Lisa Ipsen had 4 each.

Antioch (4-6 overall) is at the McHenry tourney Dec. 21. They face the home team at 6 p.m.

Mundelein slipped to 5-3, 1-3 NSC. Beatty led the effort with 15 points.

"They (Antioch) shot outstanding in the first half - it seemed like they did not miss. They got a lot of backdoor layups," MHS coach Tom Kuhn said.

Antioch was 9-of-12 from the free-throw line, Mundelein 3-of-11.

Antioch had lost 46-27 to Lake Forest in an away clash on Saturday. Gofron led the effort against the NSC contenders with 10 points. Brown had 7.

A 29-11 Lake Forest run over the middle quarters spelled doom for Antioch. ACHS was outscored 16-8 at the free-throw line.

Mundelein hosts Rolling Meadows Dec. 19 before traveling to the Crystal Lake Central tourney Dec. 27.

ACHS players make all-state academic team

Three players who had key roles on the Antioch High football team's success were selected to the 1996 Illinois High School Football Coaches' Assn. Academic All-State Team.

Junior Dave Gooch, a two-year starter at defensive back and quarterback, was also selected all-North Suburban Conference all-academic and qualified for the high honor roll at ACHS.

Senior Stu Johnson of Lindenhurst, a two-year starter at linebacker, was another all-conference academic selection and qualified for the high honor roll at ACHS.

Senior Dan Wiegel of Antioch, a two-year starter at center and tight end, is an all-conference academic selection. He was named to the ACHS high honor roll and the National Honor Society.

ACHS was 6-3 this year.

Carmel showing signs of coming closer to win

Challenging opponents is one thing - winning basketball games can be another task all together.

That is what Carmel High's squad is finding out this first third of the basketball season. Carmel is still looking for its first win after a close loss to Hersey and a slow start in a loss to St. Viator. Hersey outlasted the Corsairs 51-45. St. Viator crushed Carmel 74-52 in East Suburban Catholic Conference action.

Matt Schmidt scored 18 points and was 8-for-8 from the free-throw line as Carmel tried a new look offense. He and Pat McDermott keyed the inside attack for Carmel.

"We went with a bigger lineup. The guards had good decision making. That was four quarters of basketball and our most solid effort of the year," Carmel coach Ben Berg said. "Our shot selection was much better. We used a motion offense rather than our flex and that got us some more shots."

Carmel cut the Hersey lead to one point at the start of the fourth quarter, but a few untimely missed shots and fouls at the other end sent the Huskies to the free-throw line. Hersey made 9-of-12 in the final eight minutes.

David Hawkins and Brian Stone had 8 points each for Carmel. John Koch contributed 7.

Saturday was a different story against St. Viator. The Lions came out on a 22-7 run and the Corsairs never recovered.

"We were real flat. They have three legitimate scorers and we could not stop two of them at any one time," Berg said.

Tom McMahon scored 15 points for the Corsairs in the losing effort.

"He came off the bench and played well. He was 6-of-7 from the field. He had started most of the season, but we talked to him about what he needed to do to play harder," Berg said.

Sarah Murphy, a graduate of Antioch High School, was a letter winning member of the St. Norbert College women's golf team. She had an average of 102.8 for five meets. The squad was in its first season of competition and won the Grinnell Invitational. The school is located in De Pere, Wis.

Marks not slowed by injury for memorable bowling effort

An injury did not stop Stephanie Marks from turning in an above average series for the Antioch High girls bowling team.

The junior bowler leadoff for the Sequoits and had a 407 series and a 178 high game.

"She had a sore arm but still bowled 40 pins over her average," ACHS coach Steve Haenchen said. "She is just a tough kid."

The Sequoits fell to Stevenson 2,473 - 2,084 Monday.

Senior Cindy Jones had a 480 series and 190 best game. Junior Amber Swiderek had a 405 series and a 162 best game. She joined Marks as the bowling wounded, as she had an injured thumb.

Stevenson was led by Rebecca Hoffman's stellar 599 series with a high game of 224. Sarah Czaronta also topped 500, with a 505 series.

Antioch did win the JVI match, 1,437 - 1,386.

The varsity battled Grant before the Sequoits take some time off over Christmas break. They return for the Fenton invitational Jan. 18.

"This is a young team with little varsity experience. We hope to win, but we are building for the end of January," Haenchen said.

ACHS is 1-4 overall, 0-3 NSC.

Athlete of the week

Dave Gooch of the Antioch High School Boy's Basketball team has been named athlete of the week for the week ending Dec. 1. Gooch's stats for three games were 51 percent field goal shooting; 5.7 rebounds per game, 2 steals per game and 4.3 assists per game. Congratulating Gooch are Coach Jeff Dresser and Rose Stienburg, personal banker for First National Bank of Chicago-Antioch. The bank along with Thelen Sand & Gravel will make a donation to the ACHS scholarship fund in the name of Gooch for his outstanding efforts.

Centers keep seniors too busy to sing the holiday blues

The picture of an 80-year-old sitting by the window alone at Christmas is not a typical site at many of the newer facilities in Lake County.

At the Hillcrest Nursing Center on Rollins Road in Round Lake Beach, residents in the intermediate-care facility are kept on their toes to enjoy the spirit of the season.

"Traditionally and statistically, the majority of seniors at facilities do not have family visitors [around the holidays]," said Dr. Jerry Fay, pastoral care director at Hillcrest.

He explained that sadly while some of them do have children or other relatives, people just don't always make the time to visit their loved ones.

The staff at the nursing center works hard to put together a season with plenty of activities to help brighten the lives of the 134 men and women who live there.

Earlier this month, the group of seniors got together, er, taking turns adorning a Christmas tree in the foyer, with lights and ornaments.

On the big calendar, just outside the full-service dining room, the month of December is filled with dates for a dozen or so caroling groups scheduled to come and sing. Also slated are the days the seniors will shop for presents at one of the area stores.

Many of the community businesses and churches add a special happiness to the holidays by providing the seniors with gifts they may otherwise not receive.

The big Christmas party is held Dec. 23. The staff of full and part-time employees will bring in baked goods for all, and the resident choir will deliver a number of Christmas caroles and holiday tunes. Even the staff nurse and activities director will be singing along.

The nursing center will provide presents to all the residents including items they need like socks and night clothes, as well as a bunch of goodies. "We work for months on this, and they love it!" said Dr. Fay.

At the Adult Day Care facility located at the Condell Medical Center in Libertyville where seniors spend the day in an inter-generational setting, activities are also the way to fight holiday blues.

"We deal with lots of depression, generally," explained Jeanne Clark, director of the program. Clinical Psychologist Lori Vallelunga also helps the seniors deal with the holidays among other times of the year, said Clark.

Hanukkah, and Christmas are celebrated at the day care center, and everyone gets involved. "We try to have everybody talk about the [holidays] and we want everyone to share in the celebration," Clark explained.

She said having the combined facility in which children up to age 6 are cared for, is also a plus. "It's a wonderful place to be with children at Christmas-time."

On Dec. 23 the day care facility holds a party, and Santa is always there to help.

At Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center in Lake Villa, a number of activities are planned to keep the holiday doldrums out.

Children from all over sing their best caroles, performing for the audience. "They love the kids. When the kids come to carole, it's always fun," said activities director Bobbi Pinka.

Every year the center also has a special bake sale with goodies made by the seniors themselves. Of course they do get some assistance from staff.

A field trip to the local center of town is always planned, so residents may see the decorations and lights displayed on homes. Then a trip to Gurnee Mills to do a little holiday shopping, is also on the agenda.

Tips for parents to stay sane during winter school break!

It's that wonderful time of year again! Snow on the ground, buying presents, family all around and kids home from school for weeks! To some...a dream. To others...a nightmare! Before you get ready to buy your kids a one way ticket to another country (or planet), read on for some helpful tips in surviving the weeks without school.

1.) Try and stay cool! It's time limited and will pass. Actually, once it's over, you'll probably be surprised how fast it went. Maybe even a little sad!

2.) Remember that your kids are looking forward to the holidays because of presents. I hate to sound so materialistic at this time of year, but the fact is that kids are very materialistic during this time and it can make a difference in the way they act. They probably already know that they have to be good to be on that big list the big jolly guy has. Play it up!

Note: If your kids don't believe in the big jolly guy or you don't, make sure they know you have a list! You can be just as jolly if the right behavior is there!!!

3.) Try and involve your kids in holiday preparation. Assign tasks that can be done fairly easily by the child, so that they can feel useful and involved.

4.) If you are divorced and visitation craziness is going to start because the kids have to be here exactly at 1 p.m. and home no later than 4:01 p.m. on the dot, please try and remember that flexibility and negotiation will make for a happier holiday season for all involved.

5.) Make sure to have a behavior program in place that everyone knows about so that there is peace not only on earth, but also in your home!

6.) Remember that there is usually an adjustment period that takes place when kids get home and then when they go back. Hold on tight!

Speaking of sanity—

Dear Dr. Singer,
My child wants a "Tickle Me Elmo" doll for Christmas and I cannot find any. What the heck should I do?
Lost in Elmoland, USA

Dear Lost,
Welcome to the party!! I understand that these dolls are a real commodity. Putting it bluntly, I guess your out of luck for this holiday season! Especially given the fact that I actually heard about someone offering the manufacturer $5000 for one and got turned down! Unfortunately, we can't always get our kids exactly what they want. Remember that the spirit of the season is about the thought we have for our loved ones, not what we get each other. I know that sometimes it's difficult to explain that to a youngun, but it might be a good time to start teaching that lesson! Sorry I can't do better for you! Good luck and happy holidays!

Happy holidays to all and to all a good week!!

Thanks to all my writers!!

Keep on writing!

A Christmas conversation with Ryan

MATTHEW SCARPELLI

I recently tried to explain to an innocent child the mechanics behind a fat older man, with a girth equivalent to an elephant, sliding down his chimney with a sack, full of bulky toys.

He stared at me with an amazed look on his face and a slight grin that spoke volumes. "Yeah, Right!" said that grin, "You explain that, and Albert Einstein will pale by comparison. Plus, while you're at it, throw in how eight reindeer, albeit tiny, and a sled large enough to hold a boxcar full of assorted goodies, not only flies, but lands on a rooftop, slightly larger than a postage stamp by aviation standards, without crashing and burning, or even sliding off the other end!"

Well, he thought he had me. This beautiful little innocent blond, curly headed boy, thinking, "You think because I lie here seemingly helpless, I don't ponder the mysteries of the world?" Think again Baldy! The gauntlet was thrown! Now, I could concede defeat and ignorance, or dazzle him with footwork. I choose, footwork.

"Well, Ryan the lion, let me explain the meaning of 'Blind Faith.' Haven't you seen the enormous number of ads for 'Carbon Monoxide Detectors?'"

He didn't utter a word. But the look he gave, conveyed this message, loud and clear. "Are your nuts?" What does carbon monoxide gas have to do with Santa Claus, and blind faith?" "Besides, my older cousins tell me there ain't any Santa Claus, so get to the point!"

"Well," I went on, "can you see carbon monoxide gas?" "No! And you can't smell it or feel it either. But, you are asked to run out to your nearest hardware store and buy a detector costing in excess of $50. Now, if you do, that's 'blind faith!' Built on the authority of people in the know. It's either the greatest scam ever perpetrated, or, it has, substance."

"So, my curly headed, blond friend. You're so smug, lying there. Tell me, if you believe carbon monoxide exists, then you have to believe God exists and if you believe God exists, then you must surely believe Santa exists. If not, you can't be in our club. So there!"

"Now, if you believe Santa exists, then it's an easy leap to conclude he can land on your roof, squeeze his bulk down your chimney, drag his sack with him and plant your wishes under the tree and then depart the way he came."

"So now, smarty pants, let's see you dispute that!"

"However, if you do, then just remember, Santa is both smart and cunning and he's also a master second story man. There ain't a door or a window he can't jimmy. As for flying, well the snow in most places is as high as his red cheeks and it's an easy leap up to a low roof, and anyway, I'm older, smarter, more experienced and a lot bigger than you and I believe!" "Also, Might still makes right!" "You want to do something about it?"

"Plus, I'm your big buddy and just another kid at heart, and I'd never steer you wrong."

Editor's note: Matthew Scarpelli, a Lake Villa resident, wrote the above story for a 3-year-old friend, Ryan, who is severely mentally retarded.

Club Med On Paradise Island; The name says it all

by JIM WARREN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Whistles at 9 a.m. Everyone down to the beach for volley ball. This is the picture that may come to mind when you think of an all inclusive Caribbean resort. This is not Club Med.

Some vacationers prefer to have their days planned out for them. I do not. So when I was offered a chance to visit Club Med on Paradise Island, I envisioned a list of daily activities in which I would be expected to participate. Boy, was I wrong.

This is not to say there is nothing to do at Club Med. Quite the contrary. During my three day stay I took golf lessons and sailing lessons. I took a boat trip to a small island and went snorkeling on a beautiful reef. (By the way, those disposable underwater cameras work great. Stop in and I'll show you my pictures). I ran out of time before I could take tennis lessons complete with video playback to improve your game.

The beauty of Club Med is that everything is there for you, but you plan your day. If you feel like taking windsurfing lessons, just be at the beach house at 10:30 a.m. or 3:30 p.m. Want to learn how to sail a Hobie Cat? That's at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. The snorkeling boat leaves the dock at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. with lessons in the pool one hour before.

The activities are there, but you are not pushed into "enjoying" yourself. If you just want to lay on the beach, that's just fine. And what a beach it is. Club Med is located right on the best beach in all the Bahamas.

This resort, or village, as it is called, was once three separate Georgian mansions, two of which now house restaurants for those preferring more intimate dining than that offered in the Main Harbor restaurant. Reservations are required, but all is included in your package price.

The food? Fine wines, caviar and international cuisine prepared by top French chefs. What more can I say?

Strolling through the acres' landscaped gardens shaded by palm trees makes you think this to be a perfect resort for honeymooners. In fact, this Club Med is very popular as a honeymoon destination and offers special packages for newlyweds.

For the sports-minded who still want a relaxing vacation, Club Med is the place.

...What to my wondering eyes should appear

Twass the night before Christmas, and all through the house, not a creature was stirring, except me, my husband, the cat, the dog, and a pile five feet high of Christmas presents left to wrap. And in that mess, who knows? Maybe even a mouse.

The children are nestled all snug in their beds While visions of every toy they ever saw on TV dance in their heads.

The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, in hopes that the darn cat, who has already knocked half the ornaments off the tree, won't find them up there.

While I in my kerchief and Dad in his cap pray that sometime before morning we will actually get to take a nap.

When out on the lawn, there arose such a clatter that I sighed and said, "Now what the heck is the matter!"

Away to the window, I flew like a flash (the hubbie had fallen asleep watching "M.A.S.H.")

The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow made it easy to see that darn raccoon in our garbage below

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

His eyes how they twinkled, his dimples — how merry! His nose was as red as a maraschino cherry.

His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow, And in between belches, he yelled "Ho, ho, ho!"

He had a broad face and a little round belly That hung over his pants like two tons of jelly.

He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf And he laughed at his own jokes, in spite of himself

A wink of his eye and a twist of his head, Soon gave me to know I had plenty to dread

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work, He emptied his bladder right there - what a jerk!

And laying his finger aside of his nose, and giving a nod, through the bushes he drove.

But I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight, "Merry Christmas, Babe (urp) - have a good night!"

Cooking by the Book

'The Cookie Book' a Bible for the '90s

Cookie baking knows no season but is especially popular this time of year.

Food writer Holly Garrison's "The Cookie Book: Over 400 Recipes for the Chewiest, Crunchiest, Crispiest and Most Chocolatey Cookies Ever" (Macmillan Reference, $25) is a wellspring of good ideas.

Her easy-to-follow instructions cover the cookie genre: drop, rolled, icebox, shaped and bar cookies. Recipes range from biscotti to pfeffernusse. It's not too late to whip up a batch of—

St. Nicholas Cookies

3 cups all-purpose flour

1 Tbl. baking powder

1 Tbl. ground cinnamon

1 tsp. ground nutmeg

1/2 tsp. ground cloves

1/2 tsp. anise seeds, crushed

1/2 tsp. ground white pepper

1/2 tsp. salt

1 cup (2 sticks) salted butter or margarine, at room temperature

1 1/2 cups packed dark brown sugar

3 Tbl. milk

1 large egg white, lightly beaten, for brushing on cookies

1/2 cup blanched almond slices or silvers, for decorating cookies

Adjust two racks to divide the two baking sheets. Into a medium-size bowl, sift together the flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves, anise seeds, white pepper and salt.

In a large bowl, with an electric mixer at medium-high speed, beat the butter until creamy, about 1 minute. Add the brown sugar and continue beating until the mixture is light and creamy, 2 to 3 minutes. Beat in the milk until blended. With the mixer at medium-low speed, gradually add the flour mixture, beating just until blended. Gather the dough into a ball. (At this point, the dough can be tightly wrapped in aluminum foil and refrigerated for up to one week or frozen for up to three months. If frozen, thaw in the refrigerator and bring to room temperature before proceeding).

On a generously floured surface, knead the dough until smooth. Roll the dough into a rectangle measuring about 15 x 12 inches that is 1/4 inch thick. With a pizza wheel or the tip of a sharp knife and a ruler, cut the dough into rectangles measuring about 2 1/2 by 1 1/2 inches. Arrange the rectangles on the prepared baking sheets, spacing them about 1/2 inch apart. With a pastry brush, brush the tops of the cookies with beaten egg white, then scatter a few pieces of almond over each cookie.

Bake for 12 to 15 minutes until firm and lightly browned. Reverse the baking sheets on the racks and from front to back once during baking. With a wide turner, immediately transfer the cookies to wire racks to cool completely. Store in a tightly covered container.

Yield: About 48 cookies.—by TOM WITOM

Breakfast—a heart healthy start to the holidays

A new survey reveals that 52 million Americans will miss the most important meal of the day this coming holiday season—and it's not the one with richly buttered and sauced foods like biscuits, stuffing, gravies and candied sweet potatoes.

The survey* found that more men (32 percent) than women (24 percent) will make the mistake of skipping breakfast during the holidays in an attempt to "save up" for the traditional holiday feast.

However experts say breakfast takes on even greater importance on those days when people tend to overindulge.

"Skipping meals is not the answer to avoiding extra pounds during the holiday season," says Donna Shields, registered dietitian and nutritionist. "Our metabolism seem to work more efficiently if we eat smaller, more frequent meals, as opposed to the 'skip-and-binge' syndrome."

Starting off a holiday morning with a nutritious breakfast, or light snacking before the big meal of the day will help people avoid overeating.

"A bowl of whole grain cereal with a 1/2 grapefruit for breakfast, or drinking a large glass of grapefruit juice mid-morning is a healthy way to curb a ravenous holiday appetite," says Shields. "Grapefruit juice is also a quick 'pick-me-up' when you're too busy to sit down to a meal."

Florida grapefruit and 100 percent pure Florida grapefruit juice are fat-free, sodium-free and cholesterol free, they contain many important nutrients, including 110 percent of the recommended daily value for vitamin C. Both are also certified through the American Heart Assn.'s heart-check food certification program.

The heart-check program was developed by the AHA to help consumers identify foods in the supermarket that, when included as part of an overall healthy diet, may help reduce the risk of heart disease. Florida grapefruit is the first fresh produce item to receive the heart-check mark.

"Including heart-healthy foods, such as Florida grapefruit and grapefruit juice during the holidays is a great way to keep sensible eating on track during the holiday season," says Shields.

Movie Pick Disaster—Sly's tunnel version

Sylvester Stallone

We guess it was inevitable that an explosion in a tunnel as busy as the Holland Tunnel connecting New York and New Jersey be made into a disaster film.

With Bruce shooting it up in "Last Man Standing," Arnold making like an "Eraser," Sly Stallone was overdue for some heroics, so he became the victim of cinematic "tunnel vision," with a movie so intent on delivering emotional shocks that it fails to deliver in the entertainment department.

We do mean victim because "Daylight" is one of the worst recent films of its genre filled with stereotype characters and trite action scenes where they try to blow-up, drown and chop Sly and

Co. up over and over again.

Stallone has been heard to claim that this will be his last action film. If there are anymore like this in the wings, may we say Amen!

"Daylight" was made in Italy, far from the "Big Apple," and from there on nothing about this flick rings true. The movie gets off to an exciting start with a mad car chase through the tunnel as a car load of teens crashes into truck full of toxic waste, sending a fireball through the tunnel.

Some of the special effects are spectacular, but most of them have a phony tinge. Maybe George Lucas and Co. have made us explosive numb.

Stallone, who coincidentally happens to be a former emergency expert, now in disgrace, looks to redeem himself by leading the usual disaster group to safety. We have the yuppie couple who spoil their dog, the love interest in Amy Brenneman, David Caruso's girl-friend in "NYPD Blues," a black tunnel cop played by Stan Shaw, and a van full of prisoners.

Stallone made his millions by playing numb and dumb. The mistake here is they try to give him an emotional persona which means some dialogue. In Stallone's case the less said has always been the better. Brenneman, a would-be playwright, and Sly share an unusual clinch and the climax tries to be memorable, but with all these action films trying to outdo one another in the special effects department, we've seen much, much better.

If this is goodbye to Sly the action hero, since we've already been unlucky enough to witness his few forays into serious acting and comedy, may we wish him a good retirement during which he can open the first Planet Hollywood in outer space for excitement.

We give "Daylight," rated PG-13, two out of five stars. Wait for the video!—by GLORIA DAVIS

BAAC offers Children's Winter Theater Workshop

Watch out Macaulay Culkin the Barrington Area Arts Council is offering young actors and actresses the opportunity to enhance their theatrical skills in their Children's Winter Theater Workshop. For six weeks the children will participate in discussions, theater games and creative projects.

Irene Colson, a graduate of Illinois Wesleyan Univ. with a BFA in performance, will direct this workshop. Colson has been involved with many theater groups including the Pullman Players and Music on Stage. She is a founding member of Caboose Children's Theater and has worked on publicity for Northbrook Theater Guild.

Colson takes her inspiration from Aristotle's poetics. In the course of the workshop she will introduce the elements of drama such as scenery, spectacle, character and plot.

The workshop will take place at the BAAC Gallery on six consecutive Saturdays beginning Jan. 11 and ending Feb. 15, 1997. Session I is for children in grades third through fifth and will be held from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Session II is for grades sixth through eighth and the time is from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. The cost is $60 per student for BAAC members and $70 for non-members.

For reservations and additional information, call the BAAC Gallery at 382-5626.

U.S. Army jazz band to perform at CLC

The Army Blues, the premier jazz ensemble of the United States Army, will perform with the College of Lake County Jazz Ensemble at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 8 in the auditorium of the CLC Grayslake campus, 19351 W. Washington St. Admission is free.

Formed in 1972, the Army Blues Band continues a tradition begun by the Army Dance Band which entertained soldiers and civilians in the battle zone during World War II. One of the few remaining full-time professional groups of its kind, the group performs original works by U.S. Army Band staff arrangers and composers, music by jazz legends Duke Ellington, Count Basie, Glenn Miller and Woody Herman, and sounds of contemporary jazz composers.

The Blues have performed at the White House and regularly entertain at military and state department functions. The 18-piece ensemble has shared the stage with many jazz greats including Stanley Turrentine, Louis Bellson and Frank Foster and has provided back-up for show business giants like Bob Hope and Wayne Newton.

The program is free and open to the public. For information, call 223-6601, ext. 2550.

Men Beware: Last-Minute shopping is hazardous to your health

Until scientists isolate the "holiday procrastination" gene and create a pill for smart shopping, men will need to rely on common sense and willpower to avoid the last-minute rush to buy a holiday gift for the women in their lives.

Most guys have good intentions, but they put off shopping until a few days — or even a few hours — before the holidays begin. Then, they wander aimlessly through countless store aisles, get frustrated with crowds and go home, or fall back on the old standby items. According to a recent nationwide survey by Norelco Silhouette Women's Razors, most men still choose gifts like jewelry and clothing, items that childhood role models from dear old dad to Ralph Kramden gave to their spouses. However, women have a knack for smelling a last-minute gift, no matter how expensive. Men are better off getting a less-expensive item that involves thought, caring and a touch of humor. They can think of it as an "investment" that will pay off the next time they're out late with friends or they accidentally throw a silk blouse in the washer with their gym clothes.

While all women are different, here are a few ideas to get the creative juices flowing:

- The sporting theme — If she's a sports enthusiast, give her a gift she will truly enjoy. How about some tennis lessons, horseback-riding lessons or a scuba-diving course? Or, better yet, something you both can participate in — a day of ballooning or whale watching.

- Pampering package — Fill a silk or satin bag with items for her to luxuriate in, including bath salts, a body brush and scented body cream. Add in an electric razor, like the Norelco Silhouette.

This wet/dry razor offers a perfect shave in and out of the bath. It includes adjustable shaving foils for the sensitive under-arm area, gives a close leg shave and even has a pop-up bikini trimmer. Top the gift off with lingerie.

- A day at the spa — Contact a local salon, and see if it offers gift certificates for a massage, facial, manicure or pedicure.

If budget permits, give her the pampering package, as well as the certificate. This way, she will feel special all year long.

- Everyone loves to eat — Try a homemade basket filled with gourmet foods, like jams, chocolate, tea and spices.

Throw in pretty cloth napkins and maybe even a bottle of wine. Or, if she likes to cook, a class on how to make sushi might be just the thing.

- An animal lover — What could be more adorable than a puppy or kitten? Consider shopping at a local shelter, and make sure she's not allergic.

Once you've found a terrific gift, take the extra time to make the outside of the package enticing. Presentation is everything. A beautifully adorned gift box (with a large bow, some lace or a silk flower) only can add to the enjoyment of receiving a present.

If you have several items for her and really want to bring a sense of fun to the gift opening, hide the presents in nooks and crannies all around the house. Draw her a colorful map, and send her on a treasure hunt. Save the best gift for last, marked by a great big "X." Remember, no one is too young or old to enjoy a treasure hunt.

Try to be as flexible as possible with your gift budget. If you find something really special, spend the extra $5 to $10. However, don't think of price as the deciding factor—some of the most heartwarming gifts are inexpensive.

The ultimate advice about gift-giving is probably not to get too stressed over finding the "perfect gift." Trust yourself, have fun, and always keep your sense of humor.

You Better Watch Out...ATM Safety Tips for the Holidays

While the dangers surrounding automatic teller machines reach a peak during the holiday season, they can be drastically reduced if you follow the right ATM safety strategy.

ATM crimes occur at all times of the day, but the danger begins to go up after regular banking hours and rises even more sharply after dark. And in the sequence of using the ATM, most attacks occur just as the victim is leaving the machine.

Tips for the safe use of ATMs are:

Approaching the ATM Safely

- Smart ATM customers drive slowly past the location first, checking for suspicious characters in parked cars or loitering nearby.

- Stay in your car with the doors locked and the windows up until you have visually checked out the parking lot and the interior of the ATM.

- If the ATM is in use, wait either in your car or a short distance away to allow the user to complete the transaction in private.

- When using a drive-up ATM, pull so close to the ATM that no one on foot can approach you on the driver's side.

Making a Safe Transaction

Don't forget the ones who help

As the holiday season comes closer and closer, people find themselves scrambling for presents for their friends and family. As finding the perfect present often becomes a tough task, people tend to forget the other people in their lives whom they rely upon throughout the year: newspaper carrier, school-bus driver, crossing guard, baby sitter and doorman, just to name a few.

Many people find it easier to give holiday tips rather than having to search the stores for presents. The general rule is that if people tip year-round, holiday tipping becomes an option.

Generally, an appropriate tip for newspaper carriers is $5 to $10, for doormen and garage attendants, $10 to $30, and for a housekeeper or live-in nanny, one week's pay. However, people should remember to tip only what they can afford; tipping varies with the amount of service received and where people live.

Money is not the only gift that can be given; a little bit of imagination and creativity can go a long way in producing gifts that are not elaborate or too costly, but will be fully enjoyed.

Gift certificates are also a great gift idea. Certificates can come from a favorite store or restaurant. Gift certificates from long-distance phone companies are wonderful gifts, enabling the recipient to call friends and family far away.

Homemade baked goods can be made and packaged in pretty tins, baskets and jars. Not only will the recipients enjoy delicious treats, but the container becomes part of their gift. People can write out the recipe on a recipe card and attach it to the container to make an extra-special gift.

Regardless of what people choose to give for the holiday season, the thought that others were remembered and rewarded for good, reliable service surely will be appreciated.

- While conducting the transaction, stand close to the ATM and use your body to shield the screen and keypad from view.

- Be sure to sign off the machine when you've finished your transaction, and always take your transaction receipt with you.

Departing Safely

- Most ATM crimes occur when the user leaves the machine, so be cautious of anyone who is trying to distract you at this point, for instance by asking you for the time or directions.

- If you are on foot, observe whether anyone is following you as you walk away. If yes, go directly from the ATM to an open store, restaurant or public place.

- If you are driving, go straight from the ATM to your car, but check it carefully before entering—look underneath it and in the rear seat. If anything appears irregular, get away and seek help.

Banking industry insiders admit privately that ATM use is stagnating, and Portenier advises his corporate clients to avoid using automatic teller machines altogether. But if you must use an ATM, he says, avoid these potentially hazardous mistakes:

- Never use an ATM that faces onto a street—it makes you too vulnerable.

- Never enter a dark ATM.

- Never follow a regular pattern of using the same ATM at the same time each day.

- Never assume that the person ahead of you at the ATM is making a withdrawal—he could actually be waiting for his next victim.

- Never keep a written record of your PIN (Personal Identification Number) on you—memorize it instead.

- Never drop your transaction receipt—torn up or not—in the trash bin.

- Never count your cash immediately after the transaction—walk away and count it later in the security of your idling car.

If you have to use an ATM after dark, take a buddy with you and ask him/her to watch your back and warn you with the car horn if necessary. If you're by yourself, go to a supermarket that has an ATM—most of them do—but only if there's a lot of activity.

Herbs make good last minute gifts

Do you believe it? Santa will be arriving in just five days! If you are anything like me, you're still hustling about for last minute gifts. The following are some neat, little things you can put together in no time at all.

A very easy gift to make would be a container herb garden to sit in the kitchen window and then move onto the deck come spring. You can purchase a decorative container at your local garden shop, and a good all purpose potting soil mix. In the produce department of the grocery you can buy a variety of herbs already thriving in small pots. Just take them home and transplant them into your pretty container, add a Christmas bow and voila! you have a lovely gift that will be appreciated all year long (and hopefully for years to come).

You can purchase clay pots and decorate them with ordinary craft paints. You can personalize them for an added touch; i.e., "Sandy's Kitchen Garden." You can also stencil designs on them, and believe me you don't have to be a VanGogh for this to look good! Just stencil designs with a pencil, and with a small paint brush fill in the design, when the paint is dry spray with clear polyurethane purchased at any hardware store.

Also, I spoke with the folks at Leiders in Grayslake and they gave me some good ideas, among them: planting annuals in a watering can (then you can use the sprinkling can in the garden later). That would be a good container for the herb garden, too. They also carry a variety of gardening books, hand tools, Wash the rosemary stems carefully in cold water and shake dry. Divide between jars. Put the vinegar and water in a saucepan and bring to a boil. Leave to stand for two minutes and pour over the rosemary in the jars. Stand on a warm windowsill for two weeks, shaking now and then. Strain the liquid through a coffee filter in a funnel into the presentation bottles. Label. This rosemary rinse should be massaged into the scalp as a final rinse to make the hair soft and well-conditioned.

wall plaques, small statuary for the garden, and she also said they have many loose bulbs for forcing. Oh, by the way the ground is not frozen yet. Planted some hyacinths just the other day!

Here are some interesting gifts you can make with fresh herbs:

You can attach these directions to your herb garden.

Rosemary Hair Rinse

You will need:

2 handfuls of fresh rosemary stems

2 jars with plastic screw tops

1 pint white vinegar

1 pint water

non-aluminum saucepan

coffee filter paper

funnel

Herb butter

Fresh herbs of your choice (dill, rosemary, oregano, parsley and chives).

paper towels

chopping board

sharp knife

unsalted butter

saucers, spatula

Rinse small bunches of herbs in cold water, pat dry with paper towels. Chop each herb very finely on board, keeping each separate. Cut unsalted butter and allow to soften. Sprinkle a little salt over herbs this will help to release their flavor. Mix herbs with butter using a spatula. When mixed together pack in decorative containers, chill in the refrigerator until required.

Horoscope

Aries - March 21/April 20

Start forgiving yourself for past mistakes. Remember an open mind means seeing more than your side. Talk is cheap, but that doesn't stop you from ranting at work on Wednesday. A heart-to-heart discussion will help put romantic differences into perspective this weekend.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Don't let holiday spending get out of hand. Giving is one thing, but extravagance is quite another. Stop spending needlessly. A Gemini gives you some good advice Monday. Take it. And, don't let your stubbornness get in the way of asking questions. Good news comes Tuesday.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Take time off for a very early spring-cleaning. Go through closets, files and piles of paper, and throw out any unwanted clutter. It's time to make room for new things. Is that Capricorn flirting with you at work? Yes. Fight the urge to rush it. Things have a way of flourishing on their own.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

Find time for your favorite hobbies this week. Practice them, and turn them into the art they were intended to be. Need a break? A Libra invites you to do something out of the ordinary. Don't be afraid to try something new. You will find a new side of yourself when you open up.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Put exercise back in your schedule this week, Leo. If discipline's the problem, solve it with creativity. Why not try something new like karate or yoga? A Scorpio notices your new-found confidence Friday. Do what you do best, Leo. Flaunt it. A work opportunity comes your way.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Your indecision is driving a Cancer at home crazy. You're not being fair to the crab. Make a list of priorities of things you need, and pursue them. Start putting some responsibility back on yourself and taking the burden off of others. Don't know where to begin? Communication is key.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Whether it's a vacation, a business trip or just some personal space you're taking, don't leave your partner far behind. Romance is as rocky as ever, and you really need to learn when it's best to hang in there and when it's time to call it quits. A Leo offers some good advice and much-needed support on Thursday. Quiet time over the weekend does you good.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Why does it always seem like two steps forward, three steps back where your career is concerned, Scorpio? Because you never ask for more. Practice being assertive on the job this week. A boss lets you know of a good opportunity on Monday, which calls for lots of creativity.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

A hectic holiday schedule may need some adjustments. Stop making appointments you don't intend to keep. A Leo friend is annoyed with empty promises. A well-deserved day off on Thursday gives you time to collect your thoughts and figure out what you want.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Capricorn, Capricorn, Capricorn. Letting go has never been your strong point, but your love life is becoming more and more like a full season of TV reruns. Stop playing the "been-there-done-that" role, and start making some new beginnings. Tell your old flame to take a hike.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let holiday stress cloud career goals. That dream job is just beyond your fingertips, but not far beyond your grasp. Do what it takes to make it happen. Be aggressive. Exercise activities are great stress relievers. Try your hand at something new over the weekend.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

An upcoming family function could be the cause of stress this week. A compromise will have to be met before feelings are hurt. Give a little, but don't let yourself get taken advantage of. Children are the focus of the weekend. A new responsibility carries a lot of weight.

New Alzheimer drug shows progress in research

Approval of a new drug for Alzheimer's disease by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) shows that science is making real progress in developing therapies for symptomatic relief of the incurable brain disorder, according to the Greater Chicagoland Chapter, Alzheimer's Assn.

"Intensive research on Alzheimer's disease began only 20 years ago, yet today we already have a second drug treatment available," said Kent Barnheiser, executive director of the Greater Chicagoland Chapter, Alzheimer's Assn. "Additional drugs are in the pipeline that, when approved in the next few years, will offer families and physicians a fairly broad range of choices in drug therapies for symptoms of the disease."

The FDA approved on Nov. 25 donepezil hydrochloride as a treatment for symptomatic relief for Alzheimer's disease. The only other Alzheimer drug, tacrine, was approved by the FDA in 1993. Neither of the two drugs will cure the disease.

The drug does not slow Alzheimer's progression, but eases mild to moderate symptoms by inhibiting the breakdown of acetylcholine, a brain chemical vital for nerve cells to communicate with each other. The longer acetylcholine stays in the brain, the longer those cells can call up patient's memories.

"This is a very rich time for Alzheimer's research," said Barnheiser. "In addition to this growing generation of drugs to provide relief of symptoms, we anticipate in the next few years the development of a second generation of drugs that will delay onset of the disease, allowing afflicted individuals to maintain their independence longer, possibly for years."

According to Barnheiser, affected individuals and their families should discuss the potential benefits, risks and costs of donepezil hydrochloride with their physicians before deciding whether to try it.

The Alzheimer's Assn., Greater Chicagoland

Chapter, does not endorse products.

In 1995, the Alzheimer's Assn. created its Ronald and Nancy Reagan Research Institute to speed discovery of effective treatments and even preventions for Alzheimer's disease. The Institute is forging alliances among universities, government and commercial partners to encourage development of more and better therapies for Alzheimer's disease.

Alzheimer's disease is a terminal, progressive, degenerative disease that attacks the brain and results in impaired thinking, memory and behavior. There is no known cause or cure.

Approximately 4 million American are afflicted, including 100,000 in Chicagoland. Alzheimer's is the fourth leading cause of death among U.S. adults, claiming 100,000 lives annually. Victims of Alzheimer's disease can live between three to 20 years after initial diagnosis.

This event is being held in an effort to inform women in the local area of health issues which directly relate to them. In addition to exciting programs by notable physicians and health practitioners, three packages covering screenings will be offered.

Each package includes a Women's Health Profile, which, after the completion of a questionnaire, is a 20 page report addressing one's overall wellness, disease prevention, nutrition, physical fitness, cancer, coronary, and osteoporosis risk. The profile is mailed directly to your home.

Each of the three packages also offers different tests, depending upon which screens one wants.

The three options are as follows:

Exhibitors who participate will be present from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Hospital offers tobacco awareness class for teens

Every day more than 3,000 adolescents in the U.S. smoke their first cigarette. The Highland Park Police Dept. enforces an ordinance that prohibits anyone under the age of 18 from purchasing, possessing or using tobacco products. Violators are required to pay a $50 fine.

As an alternative to the fine, Highland Park Hospital and the city of Highland Park have joined forces to create a Tobacco Awareness class. The class is held from 8 a.m.

to 12:30 p.m., one Saturday, every other month, with the next class scheduled for Jan. 18. The interactive seminar was developed to give teens the information and motivation needed to make their own decisions about a healthy, smoke-free lifestyle.

"We don't expect kids to stop smoking just because we tell them to," says Cathie Dunal, MD, MPH. "The program explores reasons why a teenager smokes and gives alternatives. Hopefully, by the end of the class, they have moved one step closer towards quitting."

The fee for the class is $15 if attending as a result as a police citation; $25 for voluntary participants. Pre-registration is required. To register or for more information, call HealthWorks® of Highland Park Hospital, 480-2685. Highland Park Hospital is located at 718 Glenview Ave., and is a member of Northwestern Healthcare.

Anti-violence coalition recommends toys

Parents who don't want their children to play with toys that promote violence can find an abundance of healthy choices in retail stores, contends Lake County Unites for VIP—Violence Intervention and Prevention. VIP is a coalition of several human service agencies and other community organizations.

Toys endorsed as excellent holiday gifts range from old standards like the Radio Flyer red wagon to current "must-haves" like the Tickle Me Elmo to create-your-own activity boxes, said Barbara Haley, co-chair of VIP.

"Good toys don't have to cost a small fortune," Haley says. "If you don't have enough money to buy a big Radio Flyer you can buy a miniature version that costs about $10."

Haley also encourages parents to create inexpensive colorfully-wrapped activity boxes that can include old adult clothes, shoes and hats. "Kids love to play grown-up," Haley says.

Or, she says, mom and dad can fill a box with art supplies that include Play-Doh, washable markers, paper, crayons, scissors and glue. An art box is inexpensive and it encourages a child's creativity, Haley says.

While the cute and benign Tickle Me Elmo dolls are the current national rage, Haley says she hopes parents don't become enraged and resort to violence when they scramble for the popular toys with other parents.

"It's sort of ironic that this fun and lovable doll has created pandemonium at stores and malls across the country," Haley says. "There have been some reports of skirmishes among adults that we certainly hope don't escalate into anything serious."

Some of the toys and other holiday gifts recommended by VIP are:

- Videos that children and their parents can enjoy watching together. "Babe" is such a movie, Haley says. "It says a lot about dealing with stereotypes and overcoming obstacles in a gentle and at times humorous way."

- Finger puppets that are fun to have as personal pals or to direct in a show.

- Pretend kitchens for youngsters 4 and up so they can make believe they're cooking, cleaning and stocking the cupboards—just like mom and dad.

- Play phones for toddlers because they help develop language skills.

- Musical mobiles for infants.

- Dolls that are soft and washable with molded hair and eyes that can't be removed.

- Legos building sets because they are durable, flexible and encourage creativity.

Bradley Counseling Center receives grant

Allendale's Bradley Counseling Center announces a 10-week group to help parents of children with Attention-Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and other disruptive behavior disorders, to deal effectively with behavior problems.

Approximately two million U.S. children suffer from ADHD. Bradley Counseling Center has developed a 10-week program to assist parents in managing the behavior of their ADHD children. The group will be limited to parents of 6 to 12 year old children who live in McHenry County.

This group received financial backing from a MAPP grant. The MAPP grant award is being funded by the McHenry County Mental Health Board through the McHenry County Child and Adolescent Local Area Network (C&A LAN).

The co-conveners for the C&A LAN are the McHenry County Mental Health Board, the Youth Service Bureau for McHenry County, and Family Service and Community Mental Health Center.

Anti-Cruelty Society offers tips to keep animals healthy this holiday

The Anti-Cruelty Society wishes you and your pets a happy holiday season. With a few simple tips in mind, you can enjoy the holidays while protecting your pets from holiday hazards.

Make sure your Christmas tree is steady and secure so that it can't be knocked over. If you have anything other than plain water in the tree stand, cover it so that your dog or cat cannot drink it. Sharp pine needles, bits of broken ornaments and ornament hooks can cause intestinal as well as external injuries. Make sure ornaments, tinsel, string or angel hair are out of reach of your curious pets, as swallowing any of these could result in serious abdominal distress. Keep open flames from candles away from pets.

If you have guests this holiday season, post a sign on both sides of your door so that everyone is careful to close it securely. A dog or cat can easily slip out and not be missed in the holiday confusion. Make sure your animal is wearing up-to-date identification at all times. If your animal is especially agitated by strangers, noise, or activity, consider letting him stay in a quiet room in your house during festivities.

The Anti-Cruelty Society strongly opposes giving animals as gifts. Having a companion animal means a daily commitment to that animal for its entire life (10-20 years). Becoming a companion animal guardian is a personal decision that should never be made by someone else. If you want to offer the companionship of a dog or cat to a friend, give a gift certificate from the Anti-Cruelty Society instead. Gift certificates are available at The Anti-Cruelty Society, 510 N. LaSalle St., Chicago. The Society is open from noon to 5 p.m. seven days a week.

For more information about The Anti-Cruelty Society services and programs, call (312)644-8338.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

Newborn infants exist in a world full of surprises; everything they see is new to them. They need time to learn to see effectively. They quickly learn to recognize their parents and gradually expand their circle of familiarity.

Next, the infant must learn to coordinate seeing with body movements, so that he can find and touch the things he sees. Experts recommend hanging brightly colored mobiles in the baby's crib where he can develop his see, reach and touch capabilities. Play peek-a-boo with a six-month old and see that he has toys that encourage him to coordinate his vision with his body movements.

If a child has crossed eyes or other evidence of vision problems, have his eyes examined at once. In any event, an eye examination by age 3 is recommended to be sure that vision is not impaired.

Haz-Mat team provides quick action to spill

SPENCER SCHEIN

Staff Reporter

Quick action by members of the Lake County Fire Departments' Specialized Response Teams—Hazardous Materials averted what could have been a potential disaster situation.

Traffic on Route 12 in Lake Zurich was busy as usual the afternoon of Dec. 16, when a truck making a delivery from Hydrite Chemical Co. attempted to make a right turn onto Route 12 from Old Rand Road, when it turned over onto its side.

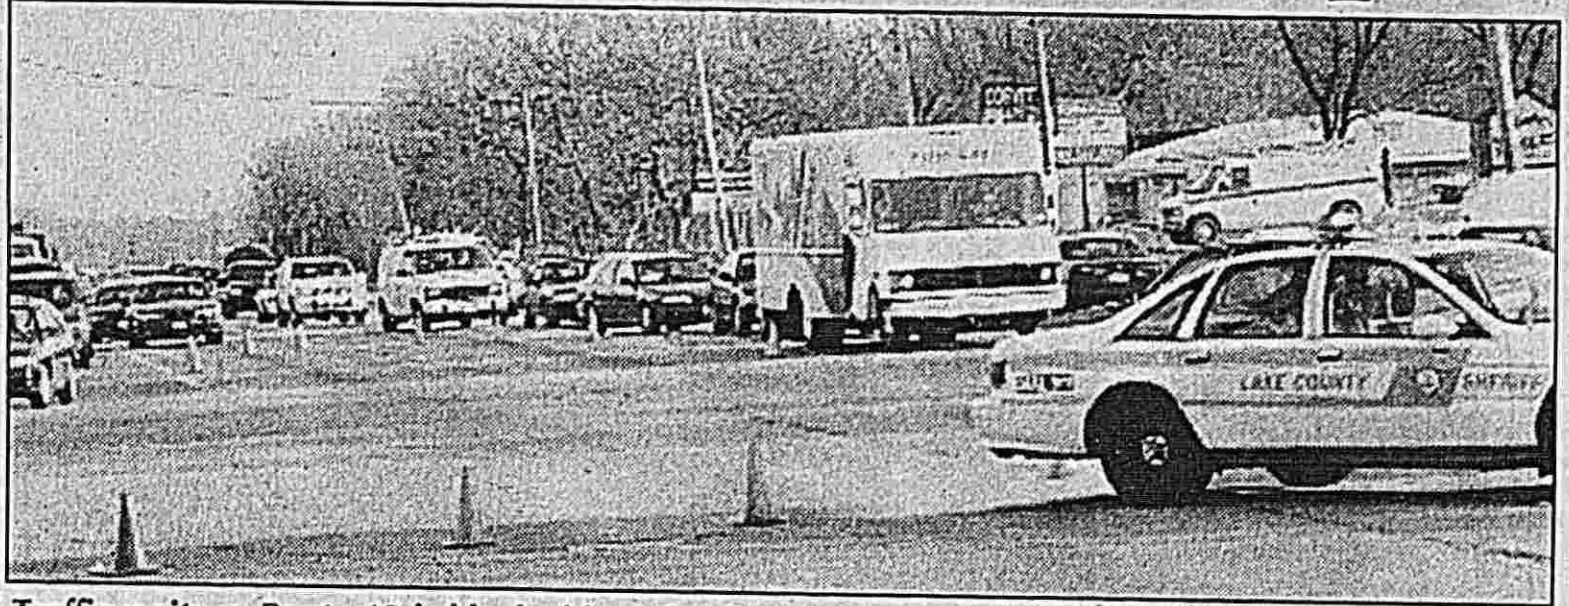

The load in back of the 18-wheeler was apparently not secured, and the weight shifted, according to Mario H. Tristan, assistant fire marshal for the Lake Zurich Fire Department.

The driver did not sustain any injuries, but a white chemical cloud erupted from the combination of hydrochloric acid and sodium hydroxide, causing the closure of Rte. 12 (Rand Road) in both directions between Cuba and Quentin for the next 17 hours.

Police from throughout southwestern Lake County came out to man road blocks and evacuate five nearby subdivisions at the height of the accident.

County agenda set with committee assignments

◆ Environmental Republicans fear eastern Lake County will be making important decisions on a zoning ordinance which will affect western Lake County

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

The next two years of County Board politics began with a quick reading of committee assignments by Republican County Board Chairman Bob Grever, last Friday.

County board veteran Carol Calabresa (Dist. 15) implored Grever to slow down and pass out copies of the list, but her request was denied.

"If that's the beginning of fair and inclusive, it's not a very good start," Calabresa cried out.

Calabresa of Libertyville, along with Suzi Schmidt of Lake Villa (Dist. 3) and Diana O'Kelly of Mundelein (Dist. 10) voted against the committee assignments.

Grever maintains he is trying to be more inclusive than the previous county board chairman, Bob Depke.

"Everybody is on at least two committees, which is hopefully an improvement over the past," said Grever.

However, environmental Republicans are upset that they were left off the most influential committees, particularly Financial and Administrative, and Planning, Building and Zoning.

The Financial and Administrative Committee is without a voice from the environmental Republicans, while the seven-member Planning Committee only has two of the environmental bloc, Al Westerman of Waukegan, (Dist. 7) and Larry Leafblad of Highland Lake (Dist. 6).

Environmental Republicans had hoped Grever would appoint representatives from west Lake County to the Planning and

No debate expressed over forest preserve committee assignments

CLAUDIA M. LENART

Regional Editor

While County Board committee assignments caused somewhat of an uproar, last week, Forest Preserve Committee assignments seemed to please everyone.

New Forest Preserve President Robert Buhai, a Democrat, announced his committee assignments shortly after county board assignments were announced, last Friday.

After handing out the lists of committee assignments, Buhai told Forest Preserve commissioners, "This is one of the most difficult things I've ever had to do . . . I tried to be fair to everybody and follow your preferences."

Buhai's committee assignments are for the most part evenly split between the three factions, Democrats, environmental Republicans and pro-growth Republicans.

Audrey Nixon was appointed chair of the Finance and Administrative Committee with David Stolman as vice-chair. Committee members are Carol J. Calabresa, Robert Grever, Angelo Kyle, Jim LaBelle, Martha Marks, Pamela Newton and Diana O'Kelly.

LaBelle was appointed chair of the Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee, with Suzi Schmidt as vice chair. Committee members are Mary Beattie, Robert Grever, Debra Halas, Larry Leafblad, Judy Martini, Stevenson Mountsier and Al Westerman.

Police investigation reveals driver failed to secure load

An investigation conducted by the Illinois State Police has revealed the driver of the truck which caused a chemical spill on Route 12 in Lake Zurich did not properly secure the hazardous load.

State police turned over their information to the Lake County State's Attorney's office, which was reviewing the results and intended to have something by the end of the week.

The driver, James W. Lamberty, 35, of Hoffman Estates, was working in the Hydrite Chemical Co. office the day after the accident, and would not return to the road until the investigation is completed, according to Hydrite officials.

Penalties related to the accident could go up to $25,000 per day, according to State Police.

Spill

The response team came out in full gear, with between 30 to 40 specialized technicians on the scene.

Lake Forest Fire Chief Mike Beatty was among them. He is a technician on the Haz-Mat team, and is on the subcommittee on the Lake County Fire Chiefs Association that oversees the team.

Being called out to hazardous materials spills is not an everyday event, Beatty said.

"We usually have a couple calls a year," he said.

Ironically, the Haz-Mat Team was last in Lake Zurich on Oct. 29, when 60 fire fighters participated in a practice drill at the Hydrite facility at 800 N. Oakwood Road. The drill involved an acid spill, Beatty said, which was what the team had to deal with for real, Monday.

"In drills, we try to improve ourselves and control situations and our set up situations," Beatty said, "how you set up and control the team."

On Monday, "the department and team ran very well," Beatty said.

Lake Zurich Village Administrator John F. Dixon said although the two situations were not identical, the drill did have its benefits.

"Anytime you practice a drill, you are going to respond better than if you did not hold a drill," Dixon said.

The drill at Hydrite simulated a hazardous materials spill, allowing the participating departments time to go over the different mitigation procedures they use during hazardous materials emergencies.

Prior to the drill, Lake Zurich Fire Chief Terry P. Mastandrea said, "The primary objective is to be prepared if and when an accident happens at that facility."

Mastandrea said.

"It is still going to be chaotic," Mastandrea said. "We know in this business — the hazardous chemicals business — there are going to be accidents."

The trailer truck was carrying 11 portable tanks of the chemicals, seven of hydrochloric acid and four of sodium hydroxide. Each container holds 330 gallons.

Two of the tanks, each holding a different chemical, broke open in the crash, causing 500 gallons to leak onto the pavement and ground.

Having the chemicals mix might have been the best thing to happen, officials said.

"They were probably more dangerous separately," said LZFD Capt. David Wheelock.

Combined, they produced a salty water mixture, which posed a hazard of irritation if it was breathed or came into contact with exposed areas.

Three people complaining of irritation were taken to Good Shepherd Hospital near Barrington, and were treated and released. The Haz-Mat team is made up of fire departments from Lake County, and a few from McHenry County who are gaining experience to form their own team.

"We practice quite regularly together," Beatty said.

Hydrite has its headquarters in Brookfield, Wis. It was formed in the 1920s, and distributes chemicals for a wide variety of uses, including photographic, water treatment, household products and for the food production industry. Hydrite has been in Lake Zurich since 1994, after it acquired Jayar-Hoag Co., a firm that had been in Lake Zurich since 1984.

Zoning committee. They believe this is the area which will be most affected by decisions made by that committee, particularly work on a new zoning ordinance for unincorporated areas.

They claim Grever is ignoring the mandate of voters in the western region of the county who have overwhelmingly chosen environmental representatives to the county board.

"The only thing the county board disagrees on is land use. The voters keep saying please help us control growth... The voters know what they want, but the old guard is not willing to respect that," said Calabrese.

Schmidt said the Planning and Zoning Committee was the only one she requested, hoping Grever would take her request to heart. Although she has confidence in Leafblad and Westerman, she was dismayed that the committee consists of representatives from built out eastern Lake County who are not dealing with the problems of growth.

Planning and Zoning Committee members are Pam Newton of Vernon Hills (Dist. 18), chairman; Carol Spielman of Highland Park (Dist. 22), vice chairman; Robert Buhai of Highland Park (Dist. 23), Debra Halas of Waukegan (Dist. 9), Angelo Kyle of Waukegan (Dist. 12), Leafblad and Westerman.

Grever said he had 17 requests from county board members to be on the Planning and Zoning Committee and only seven seats.

Grever said before determining committee assignments he sat down with the new board members to try to determine their strengths and try to match them to specific committees.

Responding to criticisms of his appointments, Grever said, "If 22 people want to meet me halfway, then we can work together. It has not been my attitude to create divisions. If they want to participate, the ball is in their court."

Some county board members seemed pleased with their assignments. Democrat Halas said she was happy to be the chairman of Health and Human Services because those decisions affect her constituency in Waukegan.

"It would be impossible for everybody to get what they wanted," Halas said.

Bonnie Thomson Carter of Ingleside (Dist. 5) was disappointed she wasn't appointed to Planning and Zoning because her district will be most affected by the new zoning ordinances which will be discussed. However, she was pleased to be appointed to Public Service. "This is an important committee for my district and I will do all I can to address the road gridlock," she said.

AT A GLANCE

LHS considers split schedules

LIBERTYVILLE—Split shifts will likely be a reality at Libertyville High School as Principal Joe Wojtena informed the school board Monday night of three different options the school should take to stagger or split the school day as the district combats rising enrollment and shrinking space. Although the board did not approve a specific plan, school officials said a split schedule of sorts will likely be implemented by the next school year.

Superintendent Donald Gossett said the space crunch demands a split schedule immediately if residents want to maintain the current educational programs offered. "Once we reach 2,500 (students), we will no longer be able to force-fit all the schedules," Gossett said. He noted that the current enrollment stands at 2,479 students, and the projected enrollment for next year is 2,541.

School board members dismissed the possibility of being able to push for a building referendum by the April election. They said placing a building referendum on the ballot by next November would be more likely. Even if a referendum is passed, Gossett said the district would have to implement staggered schedules while a new building is built.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Residents warned of thin ice

FOX LAKE—Stay off the ice! That's what village officials are telling the public. For the past two weeks, trustee Jim Thillen has been issuing the warning during village board meetings.

"We don't want any kids going through the ice," said Thillen. He noted a couple weeks ago he had to shoo a few kids off of the pond near the village hall.

"Keep 'em off the ice, until it's safe!" warned the trustee. Mayor Ken Hamsher agreed.—by TINA LYNN SWIECH

Last call for Dickens

LIBERTYVILLE—Santa and Mrs. Claus will be in Cook Park from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 21 before he prepares for his annual journey. Other downtown delights include carriage rides around the park, the Secret Santa Shop, and strolling carolers.

An ice-carving demonstration is scheduled for 1 p.m. in Central Park, where an artisan will create a winter surprise. For the kids, the Liberty Theatre will present a free showing of "Balto" at 11 a.m. Dec. 21. For details on any MainStreet activity call 680-0336.

Firefighters on the job

WADSWORTH—The Newport Township Fire Department was very busy this past week with two fatal accidents, a couple of fender benders and a close call at St. Patrick's Church.

Gurnee resident Theresa Vavrek, 74, was killed when her car was struck by a semi-truck and pushed into another at the intersection of Route 41 and Wadsworth Road, Dec. 12 at 1:15 p.m. Investigators are going on the word of witnesses and the truck driver who said she ran a red light as the cause of the accident.

On Dec. 13, Michael Yant, 34, of Ingleside was found dead on arrival at the scene at 4:45 a.m. where he had struck a barrier pole at Old Route 41 and State Line Road. The county sheriff's spokesperson said Yant wasn't wearing a seatbelt and the coroner's office is still conducting tests to discover if alcohol or any other substances played a part in the accident.

The close call at St. Patrick's church occurred when paramedics responded at 7:54 a.m. for a 69-year-old man from Gurnee who was feeling ill. As he was being examined the man went into full cardiac arrest and was revived.

In two other separate incidents six persons total were transported to St. Therese Hospital.—by ELIZABETH EAKEN

Charged in fake report

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Police arrested a woman for filing a false report and faking a rape.

On Dec. 12 around 3 p.m. Amber L. Brubaker, 18, of 205 Glen St. Grayslake, was cited with fictitiously stating a sexual assault took place against her in the Walmart parking lot in Round Lake Beach on Dec. 11.

"We handle many, many sexual assault cases, and we insist on very careful assessment of the facts," said Round Lake Beach commander John Laycock. "We feel that a person who makes a false report should be arrested and heard in the court of law."

Brubaker has a court date set for Jan. 8 in Lake County circuit courtroom 306.—STAFF REPORT

Thomas felled by illness

WARREN TOWNSHIP—Former Warren Township Highway Commissioner Frank Thomas was rushed to a Waukegan hospital after he suffered a heart attack.

"He suffered massive cardiac arrest. We are very hopeful he will have a full recovery. The initial call came from his wife Karin. She was given instructions on mouth-to-mouth resuscitation," Gurnee Fire Chief Tim McGrath said.

The call came in at 8:30 a.m. Dec. 13. Thomas, age 54, was not revitalized until the ambulance almost was at St. Therese Medical Center in Waukegan. He remained in critical condition Dec. 16.

Thomas is the former 21-year Warren Township Highway commissioner who was indicted by a Lake County Grand Jury in schemes ranging from ghost pay-rolling to using township funds to pay for personal appliances.

Douglas Zeit, attorney for Thomas, said the family asked him to tell the public to please respect the family's privacy.—by STEVE PETERSON

Sergeant honored for actions

MUNDELEIN—Police Sgt. Michael O'Brien received a certificate of commendation for his actions during an incident at Thanksgiving. Observing suspicious circumstances at a business just outside the corporate limits, he contacted the Lake County Sheriff's Department and proceeded to investigate.

Finding a victim overcome by carbon monoxide in an apparent suicide attempt, O'Brien and Officer Phil Martinek pulled him to safety. O'Brien said the circumstances which led him to the scene indicated the victim wanted to be found.

"Sometimes you feel helpless," O'Brien said. "This is an incident where I could do something."—by SUZIE REED

Route 176 project on the way

ISLAND LAKE—Long awaited improvements to State Route 176 in Island Lake are nearer to happening with village officials approving a joint agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Officials approved the IDOT agreement at the Dec. 12 board meeting, detailing a project to install traffic signals at Route 176 and Eastway Drive and Westridge Drive and Route 176; add a turning lane in the center of Route 176 for one mile between Westridge and Roberts Road; and align Eastway and Beech Street.

Plans also call for synchronizing all the traffic lights on Route 176 through Island Lake so traffic will flow more smoothly through town, and to install a sidewalk on both sides of Route 176 between Roberts Road and Eastway Drive to serve the business district. The board approved the plan, contingent on IDOT including a crosswalk between Route 176 and Eastway.

Construction should start next spring. The total cost of the project is expected to be $1,867,223, with Island Lake responsible for 13 percent of the cost, the state responsible for 9 percent, and the United States responsible for 77 percent of the project cost.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Former official sues mayor

LAKE ZURICH—A complaint has been filed against Lake Zurich Mayor Deborah A. Vasels, seeking the reinstatement of Richard C. Daniels as the village attorney.

Daniels' attorney, Robert J. Long of Antioch, filed the complaint in Lake County Circuit Court on Dec. 17, naming Vasels and Mark Burkland, Daniels' replacement, in the Complaint for Declaratory Judgment, seeking Daniels' reinstatement and to remove Burkland from the position.

"We will sue the mayor for money later on, but not in this lawsuit," said Long in a voice mail message.

Burkland is named in the complaint only because he was appointed to replace Daniels, with the suit asking a judge to declare Burkland's appointment as "invalid as a matter of law."

Although the village would normally be named in such suits, as it has the largest coffers, it, as well as the trustees, are excluded in this complaint.

When contacted the late afternoon of Dec. 17, Vasels said she had not seen the complaint and therefore could not offer any comment. Burkland did not immediately respond for comment.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Accident injures students

WAUCONDA—Tragedy has struck Wauconda High School and the village the week before Christmas, as a student remains hospitalized in critical condition following a roll-over car accident earlier this week. Scott Treveiler, 17, of Wauconda, was the passenger in the car being driven by Jason Kmiecik, 16, also of Wauconda, which flipped over onto its roof after the car drove off of Fairfield Road, authorities said.

The two boys were in a 1987 Pontiac Sunbird traveling northbound on Fairfield Road approaching Gossell Road at 12:39 p.m. Dec. 17, when the car veered to the west at a curve, crossing over the southbound lanes about 250 feet north of Gossell, according to the Lake County Sheriff's Police. The car traveled down into a ditch and struck a culvert embankment before it was flipped over onto its roof, said Wauconda Fire Department Capt. Bob Rucker. No other car was directly involved in the accident, said Corporal Thomas Braze of the Sheriff's Department.

School officials believe the students, both juniors, were on their way to the Lake County High School Technology Campus in Grayslake, where both are enrolled in vocational courses.

Treveiler was flown to Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge, where he underwent surgery for head trauma later that evening. He was said to be in critical condition the following morning, according to a hospital spokeswoman. Kmiecik was admitted to Good Shepherd Hospital near Barrington in fair condition.—by SPENCER SCHEIN

Bond refunding by forest preserve district results in taxpayer savings

Lake County taxpayers could save more than $800,000 in interest payments through advance refunding of general obligation bonds, following action taken at the Dec. 13 special meeting of the Lake County Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners. The net present value of the savings today is over $500,000.

As a result of low interest rates, the District approved a resolution to issue general obligation refunding bonds to refinance the remaining $10 million portion of the original $84 million Series 1989 general obligation bonds. The new Series 1997 bonds will be refunded at an average interest rate of 5.0 percent, lower than the current 6.0 percent rate for the bonds. This could save Lake County taxpayers more than $800,000 over the next 12 years.

Refinancing of the remaining bonds would result in a savings of approximately 60 cents on a $100,000 home.

Action taken by the Forest Preserve Board of Commissioners at their December meeting gives authority to Forest Preserve President Robert M. Buhai, Treasurer Carol J. Calabrese, and Audrey Nixon, Chair of the Finance and Administrative Committee, to move quickly to lock-in the lower interest rates and maximize the savings.

A Savior is born

8 There were some shepherds in that part of the country who were spending the night in the fields taking care of their flocks.

9 An angel of the Lord appeared to them, and the glory of the Lord shone over them. They were terribly afraid, 10 but the angel said to them, "Don't be afraid! I am here with good news for you, which will bring great joy to all the people.

11 This very day in David's town your Savior was born—Christ the Lord!

12 And this is what will prove it to you: you will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger."

13 Suddenly a great army of heaven's angels appeared with the angel, singing praises to God:

14 "Glory to God in the highest heaven, and peace on earth to those with whom he is pleased!"

Ready or not— it's election time

Since most of us are loaded down these days with Christmas shopping chores, it's easy to overlook the fact that we're already knee-deep in another election campaign.

Sorry to spoil your holidays, but electioneering for the spring village and township elections already is underway in earnest in case you haven't noticed. Slates are being drawn, petitions are in circulation, prospective candidates are testing the water, making up their minds. Jan. 14 is the first day for filing nominating petitions.

Even at this comparatively early date, we're seeing a trend in the formulation of issues. Guaranteed. Candidates won't be talking about fixing potholes or getting more streetlights, call that the Mayberry stuff of grassroots government. With few exceptions, getting new shopping centers or attracting more business won't be key election issues.

Guaranteed. The subject of hot debate will be growth—or the byproducts of growth. A great many townsfolk want to "pull up the drawbridges." They want to stem high density building, preserve the environment, provide more recreational opportunities. They'll be looking for candidates with answers to alleviating traffic congestion and correcting flooding problems. What is our police department doing about drug traffic and gangs?

The holidays will come and go, but problems associated with rampant growth are here to stay. Enjoy the Yuletide while you can. We'll be getting down to business—local election business—all too soon.

Landfill pacts a shining moment

Opening of a badly needed new juvenile justice center in Lincolnshire and acquisition of a glitzy new County Building complex parking garage in downtown Waukegan notwithstanding, another step taken by county officials in 1996 undoubtedly will have greater impact on our daily lives.

That was completion of a three-stage deal to put in place agreements providing for landfill space for the next 20 years.

Few of us have pressing need for convenient county office parking and, hopefully, we won't have cause to use the updated juvenile justice facilities, but everyone of Lake County's nearly 600,000 citizens has trash to dispose of daily. All of us use the landfills.

Andy Quigley, executive director of the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County (SWALCO), put our unique position in perspective. "We can say what few can in this country. We know where our trash will go for 20 years." SWALCO is made up of 35 municipalities and the county.

The disposal centers are at Bristol, Wis., unincorporated Grayslake and Zion. The agreements are with Waste Management of Wisconsin, Inc., USA Waste Services Inc. (Grayslake), and Browning-Ferris Industries Inc. SWALCO also oversees an aggressive recycling program that processes 215,000 tons of the 725,000 tons of trash produced annually in the county.

Besides a long-term solution to getting rid of refuse, the beauty of the agreements is that the county is assured a revenue stream through sharing landfilling profits. By privatizing garbage disposal, the nasty political question of siting taxpayer-owned garbage processing centers was avoided. Without a doubt, completion of the 20-year landfill agreements is one of Lake County's shining moments.

How to tie yourself to a happy holiday

BILL SCHROEDER

A combined effort of the Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources (DNR) and Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) is aimed at making sure you have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

The two organizations are asking that motorists display a red ribbon on their vehicle through the end of the year. The slogan, "Tie One on for Safety" has been adopted.

Red ribbons should be tied to the outside rear-view mirror, antenna or other visible location on your vehicle. Locally, red ribbons are available at DNA offices in Winthrop Harbor, Spring Grove or by calling MADD at (312) 782-6266.

Springing from a blue collar background, McKoski understands the needs of plain people. The Lindenhurst resident will preside over the 19th Judicial Circuit covering Lake and McHenry counties. He has the distinction of having served as an assistant in the Illinois attorney general's office and as a prosecutor in the Lake County state's attorney's office. About the same time, ground will be broken for an 85,000 square foot indoor practice facility replacing "Mcbubble" that will be ready for next season.

Tim LeFeVour, Bears director of administration, said the aim is to create a "campus atmosphere" with the new buildings. The Lake Forest Building Review Board didn't give the final OK for the new indoor practice center until late November. City fathers were worried that the practice building would be a distraction.

The new Bears office-practice home will be "environmentally correct" because an extensive wetlands area surrounds the building area. The Bears also "overbought" land to provide a zone for buffering from neighbors. No spying allowed from other NFL teams.

Call it a catch, but there's a tab for transportation and hotels coming to $33,800 per person! Golfing legend Tom Weiskopf will be part of the teaching staff on board. This once-in-a-lifetime excursion is being put together by the University of Illinois Alumni Assn. Hail to the Orange!

GOP veterans irked by John Schullen Democratic vote

A group of influential Republican precinct committeemen is hopping mad with the outcome of the Lake County Board reorganization that left Democrats with a number of key elected and appointed positions.

"The Democrats got far more than they deserved," grouched one veteran GOP precinct captain.

The dissident committeemen are saying reprisals are in order for County Republican Chairman John Schullen, who also represents a Libertyville district on the County Board, for voting for Democrats.

They blame House Minority Leader Bob Churchill (R-Lake Villa) for engineering the deal with Democrats that preserves party power lines and the pro-development posture of the County Board majority.

The key finance committee is made up of three patronage Republicans, Jim LaBelle (North Pointe Marina), Bob Neal (Tollway Authority), and Jim

Stanczak (Sec. of State's office); two Democrats, Angelo Kyle and Debra Halas; Stevenson Mountsler, long-time GOP functionary from Barrington as vice chairman, and ex-Democrat David Stolman of Buffalo Grove, as chairman.

What made the GOP veterans even more angry was getting "froze out" of deliberations at a pre-Christmas central committee meeting when Schullen called an executive session.

Spread out on a table was a sheet cake with the word "welcome" on it, for the new Lake Zurich fire fighters and their families.

When ever new fire fighters are introduced at the village board, they and their families customarily go back to the station for cake and coffee, Dixon said.

When the AHFD fire fighters showed up, they thought the cake was for them, and proceeded to devour it.

A new cake will be ordered in January, when the fire fighters are scheduled to be introduced.

Too much Santa Claus

Editor:

The holiest days of the year are approaching for Christians and Jews. They are days of spiritual rewards to all of us, therefore, let us not confuse them with the commercialism of the sock we hang for Santa.

The adults in Grayslake have had their sock stuffed all of 1996 by the elected officials of this community. In fact, stuffed so full that the year is ending with no room left for more. Starting with the most elaborate village hall in Lake County, the largest library for this size town, the highest garbage dump, bigger and bigger high school, $13 million more for grade schools that produce 8th graders with test scores just a few points above the state average, support of the busiest highway "53" from the traffic jam area, and, if that isn't enough to make you happy, Mayor Pat Carey wants to close a deal before Christmas to give us an $11 million swimming pool/fitness complex that we voted "no" on two other times.

Don't you think we should change it from sock to boot and give the boot to these elected officials at the next election and put other people in office?

Route 53 'piece meal'

Editor:

So the Illinois State Toll Highway Authority is about to hire a high-priced public relations firm to help gain support for extending Illinois Highway 53 into Lake County.

That's not all bad. Professional PR firms are supposed to be the conscience of their clients, not just the mouthpiece. A conscience would warn the Authority that regardless of the best engineering intentions and strict adherence to federal and state requirements, the road will have a devastating environmental impact.

It will be noisy, it will disrupt social and traffic patterns and it will be an eyesore. Landscaping can't match nature. All this without relieving traffic congestion.

Twenty years ago, the state said, "Construction of the freeway would likely encourage suburban development." Also, "some of the scenic, rural nature of the area would be destroyed by construction of the freeway and associated development of the area. The uncompensated costs associated with these actions will accrue to all citizens, both present and future." No one can contradict this assessment.

Lake County needs solutions to its transportation problems. What it doesn't need are piecemeal solutions and destabilizing elements like Illinois Hwy. 53. It's not too late to develop county-wide land-use and transportation plans to satisfy employers, developers, homeowners and environmentalists.

For instance, imagine a network of toll parkways like those in Westchester County, NY, widened free roads and speedy public transportation. If a PR firm persuades the Authority and the state to look at the big picture, solutions will be arrived at much faster than by stubbornly pushing Hwy. 53, a plan that is sure to be tied up in the courts for years.

Fleeing the taxpayers

Editor:

There's a heap of trouble in Warren Township. First the indictment of the former highway commissioner. That's serious enough.

Now there are rumblings that there may be some problems in the township assessor's office. I don't know about corruption, but someone might examine the procedures and methods of determining assessments in Warren township.

About a year ago, I purchased a newly-built home on Blackstone Ave. In my mind, assessors figure out property assessments according to available market data. What better way to determine market data than the actual purchase price of a home. Yet the assessor assessed my property more than $36,000 above the price for which I purchased the house.

All through the past political campaign, I heard that the cost-of-living was down and inflation had not risen. So by what calculation can my property value be increased so dramatically in such a short time?

It's no wonder that taxpayers are ticked off. They buy a car and its reduced in value by thousands the minute they drive it out of the show room. A residential house though, the politicians pump up the valuation so that their taxing bodies can bleed more money from taxpayers.

The tax cap is phony. What good is a tax cap on rates when assessors like the one in Warren Township rips us off with enormously high assessments. The tax rate may not increase one penny, yet by bloated assessments, the taxing districts get a bigger chunk from us taxpayers. Is that fair?

Yes, I am asking for a review of my assessment. There's more to it than that though, I believe that a full-scale review of the assessor's office is in order. Are the homeowners treated unfairly as compared to the big-money property owners? How do they go about rendering these assessments?

When I purchased my home in Gurnee, I did it for quality of life and expected to be a permanent part of the community. But, now I know why "for sale" signs are popping up around me. With-in a two block area around my home 18 signs have gone up, placing their homes on the market. People who want to live in Gurnee and Warren Township are being forced out.

Imagine the "old-time" Gurnee residents on retirement and fixed incomes for many years. How can they cope with these unrealistic assessments and high taxes? My tax bill does not reflect the recent school rate increases. Multiply that with this "assessment rape" and its public robbery. Taxpayers should not be fleeced like this.

Pete Lentine

Change the 'guard'

Editor:

Any questions one may have had regarding whether or not the new Lake County Board would be "inclusive" under Bob Grever's leadership have been answered by his totally biased appointments to the many committees of the board.

Apparently, Mr. Grever's definition of "inclusive" includes the old-guard Republicans and the Democrats, who may be the real power in Lake County now, thanks to Grever, Schullen and no doubt, the outgoing Depke.

Out of 12 available chairmanships and vice-chairmanships for six board committees, the independent Republicans got one vice-chairmanship, the old-guard got eight combined and the Democrats got three combined.

On the forest preserve committees, the independents got one vice chairmanship, the Democrats got four combined and the old-guard got five.

What does this all mean? First, it means the Republican party (old guard) refuses to acknowledge the direction their constituents who elects them want them to take. Second, it means in two years we need to get rid of the rest of the old-guard Republicans. Then maybe somebody at the county level will listen!

Keep fighting monster

Editor:

Recently I read that the Tollway Authority was going to hire a public relations firm to try to convince us how much we need the extension of Rte. 53. Isn't it strange that only a couple years ago we were told that they would build the road regardless of what the people of Lake County thought or did?

Now, not only do they want to spend billions of dollars on a road that many of us DO NOT want, but they want to spend more of our money to hire a firm to convince us that we are wrong in not wanting this road would go through homes, wetlands, orchards, or anything that stands in the way. Yet they were willing to plow this through with little regard to what we think or want and their only wish is to move the congestion and problems from Cook County into Lake County.

We can no longer accept decisions that are made by the Tollway Authority or any other agency or person who has no interest in our county without questioning those decisions. I believe it should be our choice and our decision what the future and destiny of Lake County will be, for it is our home.

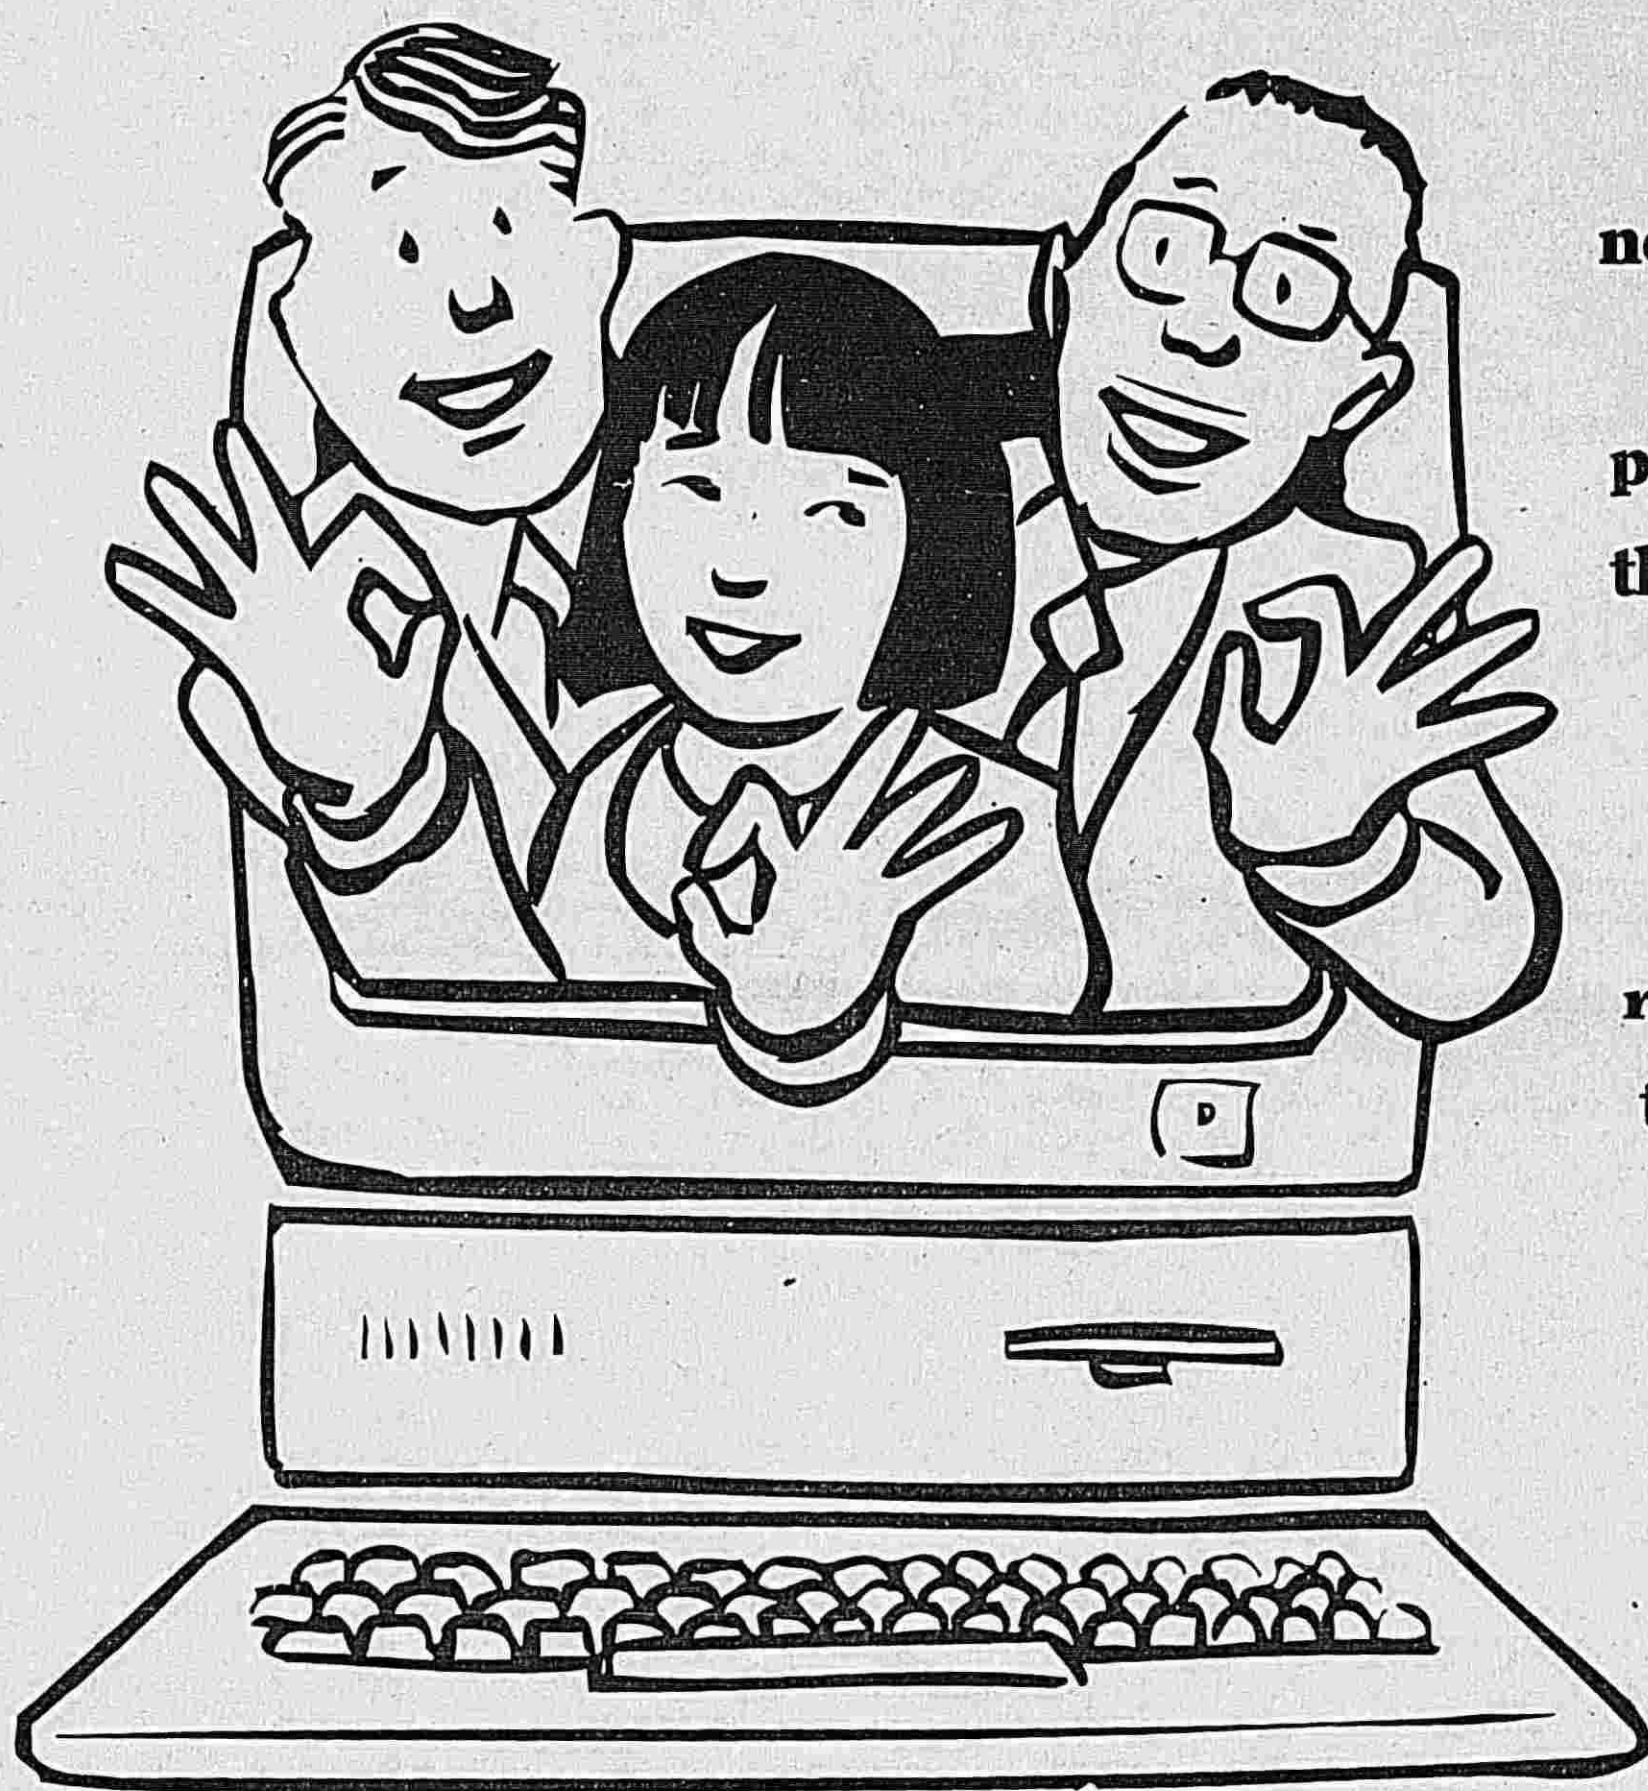

In the last few years opponents of this road, and the tollway authority's attitude towards the people of Lake County, have been joined by an increasing number of people willing to fight to stop this monster, prompted in part, by the tollway's attitude towards the people of Lake County.

We must work together now for if we wait, if we hesitate Lake County will be nothing more than a slab of cement, a mere stop between Chicago and Milwaukee. We cannot leave such a situation to our children or anyone who may come after us. The only weapons that we have in this battle are our voices and our votes. We must use these effectively if we wish to change this trend of over development and stop this pressure from outside our county lines.

A Christmas tradition — The tale of 'Unlucky Jimmy'

I first wrote about "Unlucky Jimmy" in December, 1990. Because the true meaning of Christmas is a timeless message, I will share it again.

Unlucky Jimmy is a sad little story my mother read to me when I was small. It's about a little boy named Jimmy whose family was very poor. His little sister was an invalid and spent most of her days in bed. Christmas held no hope or joy for either of the children.

As he trudged home from school each day, Jimmy would stop to look at the toys in the bright store windows. More than anything, he wanted a little red fire engine. Jimmy knew he would never be lucky enough to get one. In fact, his only marble had rolled down a storm drain the previous week. He felt that he was the unluckiest boy alive. He even called himself

Unlucky Jimmy.

Then, one night just before Christmas, Jimmy received an invitation to a Christmas party for the poor children in the neighborhood. A nice lady from a nearby church mission promised Jimmy a special gift. Jimmy grew excited as he drew near the mission. He couldn't believe his eyes when he saw the Christmas tree. It was covered with lights and surrounded by toys. Jimmy saw a bright red fire engine just like the one in the store window.

When it came time for each child to pick out a gift, Jimmy's heart nearly stopped. He was afraid that someone else would pick the fire engine. Fortunately, when his turn came, the little red truck was still under the tree.

As Jimmy reached for the engine, he thought of his frail little sister at home in bed. He stopped and turned to the mission lady. He asked softly if he might pick two gifts, one for himself and one for his sister at home. The lady shook her head sadly and told Jimmy there were only enough presents for one per child.

Jimmy looked longingly at the little fire engine. Then he picked out the prettiest doll under the tree. It had blue eyes and curly blond hair just like his little sister. As he returned to his seat with the doll, the other children began to laugh and make fun of him. Unlucky Jimmy clutched the little doll and ran from the mission. He stopped crying by the time he reached home.

Jimmy began to feel better when he saw the look of surprise and delight on his sister's face. As she hugged the doll and cried with joy, Jimmy didn't feel so unlucky after all.

Later, as Jimmy sat by his little sister's bed watching her play with her doll, someone knocked on the door. When he opened it, the mission lady was there. She gave him the red fire engine and explained to Jimmy that the children were sorry they

Packaging Equipment expands into The Corporate Woods

Packaging Equipment and Materials, Inc., more than doubled its size with a move into a 25,576 square foot site in a new multi tenant one story building at 730 Corporate Woods Parkway, Vernon Hills.

Craig Neuhausel, president of the company he founded eight years ago, said that three quarters of the space will be used for a warehouse. He said the high ceilings of 24 feet quadrupled the inventory that can be carried. The company formerly was in a 12,000 square foot space with 14 foot high ceilings in nearby Mundelein.

Charles Lamphere, president of Van Vissingen and Co., Lincolnshire, said Packaging Equipment and Materials is a leader in distribution operations. They join over 50 quality companies located in The Corporate Woods, a 340-acre award winning corporate park managed and being developed by Van Vissingen.

The packaging company is a distributor of plastic shrink packaging films and equipment. The firm also provides service for the equipment it sells.

In addition, the company, often named by its suppliers as one of the top five distributors in the United States, sells carton sealing equipment, tape and pallet wrapping.

Neuhausel said his company will add employees who have mechanical engineering and electrical knowledge to his current staff of 20 for customer service, sales and technical support.

Neuhausel said the high quality of The Corporate Woods and of the Van Vissingen management team were among the reasons for his company management selecting the new site.

Charles Lamphere and David LeCavalier represented Van Vissingen in the transaction with Joseph Geisel of CB Commercial representing Packaging Equipment.

Van Vissingen and Co., one of the oldest and most respected commercial real estate companies in the Midwest, develops and manages three award winning corporate parks in southern Lake county.

Lake County spreads holiday cheer

Over 300 persons with disabilities from Northpointe Achievement Center, 3441 Sheridan Rd., Zion, will have a happier holiday this year thanks to the kindness and support of people in Lake County.

On Friday, Dec. 20, NAC's clients will enjoy breakfast at Midlane Country Club in Wadsworth, followed by the opening of their gifts. For some, this is the only gift they will receive for the holidays.

Through the generosity of Lenny Khayat of Midlane Country Club, and the sponsorship of Zion Township and Truman Hudson, supervisor, the holiday party and gift program is a success.

Interested businesses and individuals throughout Lake County are given a profile of a client with three gift ideas included. The gifts are returned to NAC or other drop-off locations.

This year, the women from Altrusa International in Waukegan have volunteered their time to wrap the enormous amount of gifts received.

Without the support of the community this program would not exist. The thought and resources that go into the gifts given to the clients exceed the "Holiday Spirit."

Camosy Inc. earns 1996 Thomas H. Madigan award

Sam McGaw, executive director of the State of Illinois Capital Development Board (CDB) made presentation of the agency's 1996 Thomas H. Madigan Award for Outstanding New Construction at ceremonies held Nov. 8 at the Jumer's Chateau Hotel in Bloomington.

The annual award, which was first presented in 1988, recognized project team excellence in the completion of state-funded, CDB construction and renovation projects.

The project selected for team recognition and award is the McHenry County College Classroom and Library Addition in Crystal Lake, under the direction and management of Camosy Inc., general contractors, Kenosha, Wis.

McHenry County College's new classroom and library addition is a modern focal point for the campus and gives a stunning entry to the west side of the college. The curved glass exterior wall provides natural light and a view outside to the park-like setting to the west overlooking the college pond.

With Camosy Inc. directing the project: "Team members worked together to complete the project on time and within budget, resulting in a project that enhances the college's appearance and function," stated CDB officials.

"I am pleased to continue the tradition of recognizing the importance of total project team cooperation in the successful completion of CDB work," McGaw said. "The awards are the Capital Development Board's way of recognizing and honoring projects and firms that strive for excellence and set the standard for ongoing and future state capital projects."

The Madigan Award honors the efforts of CDB-contracted firms, and CDB project managers that work to complete the project; not just the project itself, as with most award programs. Entries are evaluated by a five-member judging panel on the basis of eight equally-weighted criteria, which include aesthetics, complexity, design and construction schedule, and contractor and architect performance ratings. This Outstanding New Construction project was judged the best of CDB administered new construction completed between June 30, 1993 and Jan. 1, 1996.

Midwest economy to outpace nation's

The Midwest economy will grow by 2.6 percent in 1997—slightly faster than the U.S. economy—but “we’re starting to hit a ceiling on growth in our own backyard,” said Diane C. Swonk, deputy chief economist of The First National Bank of Chicago.

“The Midwest has plenty of opportunities, but we may lack the ability to exploit them,” Swonk said in the annual economic outlook issue of her monthly First Forecasts newsletter.

A crucial factor will be tight labor markets and the limits they impose on growth, she said. “The unemployment rate dipped to a 23-year low in 1996, reaching a 25-year low in Michigan,” she said.

“Older manufacturing workers are beginning to retire and the current pool of entry-level workers has neither the skills nor the numbers to replace them.”

Even so, prospects for heavy manufacturing remain good, Swonk said. Light vehicle production is expected to remain relatively strong, supported by the ongoing shift of production from Japan to their “transplant” facilities in the U.S. and a rebuilding of inventory.

Heavy truck production is expected to pick up as Mexico continues to emerge from its economic doldrums; trucks are the only way to move goods in Mexico.

The net effect will be a projected 2.6 percent increase in First Chicago Great Lakes Index during 1997, compared to a 2.4 percent gain in the nation's gross domestic product.

The index, created by First Chicago, measures the output of goods and services in the five-state region of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin.

When final 1996 figures are in, both the Midwest and U.S. economies are expected to have grown 2.3 percent.

“The Midwest can be expected to continue to operate at a relatively high level of economic activity in 1997,” Swonk said. “But the premium that we once earned on growth is beginning to narrow. Great years are tough to beat, and we have already seen several good years in this region of the country.”

The region's economy will be helped by equipment spending, fueled by recent gains in corporate profits and an increase in farm income.

Exports also are expected to rise slightly, boosted by a pick-up in growth in Canada and Mexico.

New tax law makes nestegg tax deductible

CRAIG RAWLINS

A chronic health condition, trauma or illness that limits your ability to carry out basic tasks often requires long-term nursing care that can cost you your life savings.

A survey of Lake County nursing care facilities revealed that costs range from $3,000/month for those approved for Medicaid to $4,000 to $6,400/month for private facilities. A nestegg of $250,000 would be gone in just five years assuming average costs.

Don't count on federal or state programs to protect your assets. Medicaid, a state program, provides financial assistance for care in a nursing home but requires an individual to give up everything they own with the exception of $3,500 in assets. An attempt to give away your property to someone else within 36 months before applying to Medicaid will most likely cause you to be ineligible for assistance.

The majority of people end up losing their life savings as reflected by U.S. General Accounting Office figures showing that $70 billion of an estimated $108 billion spent on long-term services in 1993 was primarily paid for by Medicaid. Most of the remaining $38 billion was paid by individuals and their families.

How do you protect your assets? Purchase a long-term care insurance policy. In exchange for paying a relatively small monthly premium while you're healthy, the policy pays for expensive long-term care when you need it.

Beginning in 1997 and subject to several limitations, individuals will be able to deduct premiums they pay for “tax-qualified” policies. The first limitation is the policy owners age. For example, an individual in their mid 60s is limited to a deduction of $2,000 annually, while a person in their 50s is limited to $750.

Under the new law, premiums for long-term care insurance can be included in medical itemized deductions, which are deductible to the extent they exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income.

Working people may find it hard to reach that deduction threshold, but retirees should be able to benefit from the change in tax treatment.

In the last two decades, the number of Americans 65 and older had grown by 56 percent to today's figure of 32 million.

Rawlins

The increase in people requiring long-term care is overtaxing state Medicaid programs which are being focused to limit the amount of money they pay to nursing homes for Medicaid patients.

Long-term care insurance helps protect your life savings and can provide the money necessary for the best care.

The new tax law makes this insurance more affordable than ever.

New Century Clayworks begins second year

During the first year of operation, nearly 200 students participated in a variety of classes at New Century Clayworks in Gurnee. Adults and teens learned to form pots on the potter's wheel.

Children between the ages of 7 and 12 learned hand building techniques and took a lot of interesting pieces home to share with their families and friends. They were introductory workshop-type classes for area Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and the Wildwood Park Dist.

As the new year begins, classes continue to grow and new equipment has been added to the studio. Classes will still remain small however, to accommodate a wide range of students, from beginners to more advanced.

New Century Clayworks' second year of operations begins with the winter session of classes. Winter classes for adults begin the week of Jan. 6.

Both day time and evening classes are offered. Winter classes for children begin the week of Jan. 20 and include classes after school or Saturday mornings.

New Century Clayworks is owned and operated by Paula Jean Pederson. Pederson is a studio potter who has lived and worked in the area for many years. Her primary work is functional, wheel-thrown pottery from stoneware clay. Her works have won numerous awards in juried art shows, festivals and exhibitions.

Her works can also be seen at several area galleries including the Deerpath Gallery in Lake Forest, the Millburn Gallery and New Millennium Gallery in Libertyville.

New Century Clayworks is located at 83 Ambrogio Dr., Unit F, in the Gurnee Business Center, Washington St., near Rte. 41. Information about classes, workshops and pottery sales can be obtained by calling 625-1799.

Jimmy

had laughed at him. They had not known about his sick little sister. After she told why Jimmy had chosen the doll, the children asked her to bring the engine to Jimmy. The true meaning

I often think of Jimmy at Christmas time and usually feel a little selfish. Shall we start a “Jimmy” tradition this Christmas season? We can make the coming year a joyous occasion for all people by giving more of ourselves.

Volunteer time to your favorite church or charity. Make or bake something for someone less fortunate. Take time to listen to someone who needs you. Let's make this year a year of giving.

Remember the real reason we celebrate Christmas is Christ's birth. Whether or not you are a Christian by faith, Christ's life of giving, sharing and caring is a good example for all of us.

Thanks for lights

To Kurt Cusker and all his helpers: thank you for the beautifully decorated Christmas tree and lighting ceremony in Fox Lake. P.S. Please, no riverboat. Fox Lake has enough problems. Thanks again!

How proud

For the Fox Lake customer who stole all the Disney and Looney Tune ornaments from a Fox Lake realtor, you sure have brought out the true meaning of Christmas. You must be proud of yourself. Obviously, your parents must be proud of you. What a good job they did raising you. Just remember, when you meet your maker, you won't be able to scam your way through it.

Humans do it

I'm calling in response to "Hunting's cruel" in the Dec. 6 issue. It states that they don't understand how someone can enjoy killing something and that if humans do it they call it murder. Humans do do it to each other and it's called abortion.

Build what you want

There's an article about people in the paper who are all hot and bothered by the looks of the log home their neighbors are building. I think people should be able to build whatever kind of house they want. This is America.

Don't want boat

As a Fox Lake resident, I do not want a gambling boat. Apparently, three years ago most of the residents of the county voted against the boat. The group that wants it should find another area to have it, or the trustees should be voted out of office by the residents.

Who wants Nintendo?

I have a Nintendo with 20 or 30 games that I'd like to donate to a child's shelter. If anyone has any information, could they respond to Lipservice about where I can donate this?

Try honesty

This is to Mayor Hamsher in Fox Lake. How about some honesty? This is a request of some of the citizens. Instead of playing games with the secretary, village clerk, and the politics with the community, tell us where our water bills are really going. We have a little increase right now, how many more years are you going to schedule increases for us to cover up for your expenses? This idea of appointing Mr. Kubilanza to fill a 4-month term of office is ridiculous. It's a political game and you know it. Let's try some honesty.

Improve manners

This is in regard to the Dec. 6 "Return calls" about Mayor Ralph Davis of Round Lake Beach. To the person who wrote this, do you actually think the mayor wants to talk to you? It sounds like you've ticked him off by the way you sound in Lipservice. If someone ticked you off, would you want to call them back? If you speak in civil tones, you might get back twice what you wanted. Ralph Davis is and always has been a fair and responsible person. I've dealt with him and don't think you could get a better person as mayor.

Violation

I just have one little question. The Grayslake Trading Post that's on Route 83 in Grayslake, isn't that in violation of every building code that exists? Hey, Grayslake, get a clue. Tear the rathole down!

Okay to wave

Hey, Suzie McNally, when you and the mayor are out on your shopping trips, you can at least wave when the taxpayers wave at you. We don't have anything against you, we're just trying to be friendly. If you see us, wave. We know it's you inside that black car.

Too many deer

In response to "Hunting's cruel," the other day I managed to whack a bambi on Gilmer Road. In the process, I did about $3,000 damage. Does this make me a murderer? What if my child, who was not in the car, happened to be there and the deer was larger and it went through the window and impaled my child? Would the deer be a murderer? There's too many around here and they ought to be exterminated.

It's not me

In response to "Taking advantage," I feel that you must have a daughter or someone who's babysitting. You need to go after the person who's not paying them. I, myself, pay my babysitters well. It's not everyone. I pay them $4.25 to babysit my kids and that's a heckuva lot more than most people pay at $2 an hour. If you have a problem with someone not paying, go after them. Don't blame all of us parents for taking advantage.

It's up to us

Riverboat gambling would drastically impact the makeup of Fox Lake and the surrounding communities. Growth is coming and it's up to us to decide what kind of communities we want for our future. I would hope that before making such a major decision as allowing a casino in our community, our elected officials would place a referendum on the ballot to gauge the true feelings of the people it would impact the most...the residents of our community.

Disappointed

I can't believe that the current Mundelein village administration is pursuing another McDonald's in our town, when we had a nice, brand new family sit-down restaurant in Tops. That business was run out of town shortly after it opened by this administration and now they're pursuing McDonald's. Just what we need. I'm very disappointed.

Not cruel

Hunters are not cruel. The hunter's biggest enjoyment is the closeness to nature that God created. People who don't seek the outdoors through hiking, fishing, exploring, hunting, etc. never see the beauty that belongs to us all. Killing is not what hunting is all about. It's the enjoyment of the world outside of our homes, businesses, and work. Our license fees, taxes, and equipment. Many people are killed and maimed each year by deer collisions. The only way to reduce the situation is by controlled hunting. Leave us alone. We're not a bunch of bad guys, as you may think.

Thanks to TV

I'd like to thank the village of Lake Zurich for putting board meetings on television since I have disabilities and can't make the meetings. I'd also like to thank the three new trustees who are doing a good job about looking after the financial problems the village is letting slip through their fingers. If the police want to do all the community things, that's okay, but first I want the speeding traffic on my street to be looked at.

A link in the chain

This is in response to "Hunting's cruel." Hunting is part of the food chain. I sure would like to know what you think when you sit down to a meal of hamburgers or pork, chicken or turkey. I don't care for golf, but you don't see me out picketing the golf course. To each his own.

Ticked off

I'm sitting here and I'm ticked off about the stuff I see in your paper. I'm looking at "Mind your own business" and "Burn what you want." That house with the red trim is an eyesore and people should be able to burn what they want. Why don't those people get together and burn that house down and there's two less articles you have in Lipservice. As far as hunting being cruel, I hope they shoot three deer while they watch the house burn. People need to eat. Get a life!

Delivery disappoints

I live in the Links of English Meadows. I see that you're doing home delivery. I think this stinks. My paper was in the middle of the cul-de-sac, nowhere near my home. I happened to be picking up things that had blown around in my yard and that's when I saw my Grayslake Times. Don't you think you should teach these people how to deliver first?

Inconsistent

I found some interesting reading in Lipservice a couple of weeks ago, and apparently some other people in Grayslake are beginning to pick up in the inconsistencies of the Grayslake Police Department. I thought it was just me seeing this, but I guess not. I had the opportunity to observe some of our squad cars in action running errands recently. They were all out on the highway. Are these guys afraid to go into subdivisions? That's where the taxpayers are that pay their salaries. What's up, Mayor Carey? Are we in need of a change?

Good job

To the Poole family: Thank you for doing a wonderful job with the Elks program and the kindergarten program in the Fox Lake School District. We appreciate all your hard work. And thank you to all the local merchants for their donations that made the children have a wonderful holiday. Thanks again!

Where's Moore?

I was looking at the newspaper today and all the high school pictures for basketball and I noticed that the MVP of the Northwestern Suburban Conference wasn't on the Round Lake team, #20, Robert Moore. We're just wondering what happened considering he was the MVP last year and third in scoring in Lake County.

Thanks for help

To the Wauconda Fire Department and the Lake County Police: I just wanted to say thank you very much for all you did for me at the Grand Am accident on Fairfield and Gilmer. I am doing better. I did lose my license over this incident. No more driving for awhile. Thank you very much to the bystander, Lake County Sheriff's Dept., and the Wauconda Fire Dept. It was greatly appreciated!

Where's pride?

We live on Lakeshore Drive on Loon Lake. People here are taxed so highly that I don't understand why they let the north sides of their property collect so much junk. I'd just like to know where our pride is.

Unprofessional

I noticed in the Fox Lake Press that Fox Lake officials are lobbying for a license to have a riverboat. They never informed the residents of their intent, especially the people who live near the site they're considering. Fox Lake officials are unprofessional.

It's necessary

First of all, I love all animals. This is to the idiots at Heron Harbor subdivision who let their cats roam around and kill birds. I saw it do it again and I've had it. I called the authorities and they said I could do whatever is necessary to get rid of that cat, including trapping it and taking it to the pound and that's what I'm going to do.

Is it a secret?

I need some opinions or answers. Just the other day, I turned in one of my family members to DCFS for child molestation. In my gut and heart I know this is true. The family member told me that they have no idea who turned them in. If this case turns out to be unfounded, is there any chance (even though I was anonymous) that they could find out who called the 800 number to turn them in? If they find out, I know me and my children are in trouble.

Happy holidays

May the merriest of all Christmases be bestowed upon those at your newspaper who have made Lipservice possible. God bless you all!

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,
I work in the Human Resource department of a mid sized company where I am responsible for finding, screening and interviewing applicants for positions within a variety of departments. While I am able to keep up with the paper flow and the tedious chore of interviewing, I am finding that I cannot get department heads to act quick enough to accomplish the final result...the hiring! While I have been with this company for 3 years, nothing seems to have changed. The company has a 2 interview process and the department heads all have positions that need to be filled immediately. When it comes to making a move, they drag their feet until it is too late. I am finding myself repeatedly trying to fill the same employment slots over and over, not because the candidates aren't qualified, but rather because by the time these department heads make their decisions, the candidates have taken jobs elsewhere. I have spent the past 6 weeks interviewing for 4 different positions for which I had a minimum of 3 candidates each for these supervisors and managers to meet. First interviews went well, with the supervisors. The problem seems to be in chasing the managers all over to get them to commit to the second interview. The position I am in can often be a thankless one yet I love what I do. Changes need to be made. I don't know quite what the changes should be as yet, but I am working on a presentation. Do you have any suggestions that could possibly aid me in my presentation? Thanking you in advance for your help.
K.G. - Vernon Hills

Dear K.G.,
First thing is to know the type of employment market you are currently faced with. Understand that the job market is strong and jobs plentiful. While you will see more and more positions advertised in the newspaper, that does not even begin to touch the surface of thousands that are not advertised. Along with this type of market comes the employment seeking individual who seldom puts "all their eggs in one basket," so to speak. During the time that you may be interviewing them for a position within your company, they may, and most likely are, exercising several employment options, often taking the first thing that comes up, (obviously not always recommended.) Therefore, it is essential that the employers do not, "drag their feet." These candidates in this market are here today and gone tomorrow. You must convince your managers and supervisors of the sense of urgency that has been placed in your hands by them. In order for you to operate in the manner to which you can best utilize your time and skill, changes need to be made, as top candidates are ending up at other corporations and possibly the competition, due to the current problems in expediting the hiring process. My suggestion: When finding candidates that you believe are well suited for these positions, schedule the first and second interviews on the same day. Have each supervisor and manager when issuing you an order for hire, also supply you with a full weeks worth of availabilities in 30 minute increments. Match these up so that both parties can meet on the same day to either hire or rule out the individual. You will find that this works to your advantage all the way. It will alleviate your problem of losing good applicants and will inevitably make you a hero when your abilities show through and the lengthy hiring problems are gone. Good luck.

GAIL

The floor plan of the Country style Gail makes excellent use of the allotted 1996 square feet. This three-bedroom, two-bath house, with a handsome brick and wood exterior, has a Great Room as the central gathering place in the home. The true character of the design shines through as family and friends congregate for a holiday meal or just to share a relaxing weekend.

The Great Room, all 304 square feet of it, is heated by a built-in fireplace with a wood box on one side and entry closet on the other. The L-shaped kitchen opens right into this area for added convenience. An island cooktop with a raised eating bar is the only obstruction. The cook in the household can prepare a banquet, still participate in the conversation, and not miss any of the fun. In addition to the built-in appliances, the kitchen boasts a separate oven and walk-in pantry. A leisurely breakfast can be enjoyed in the comfortable nook. Extending out from the house, the nook has windows on three sides. This not only gives you a pleasant view, it brightens the entire atmosphere. Located to the right of the skylit covered entry, and available for more formal entertaining, is the dining room.

The large master suite, isolated for privacy, is loaded with amenities. They include personal access to a covered patio, private bathroom with twin basins, roomy walk-in closet and an adjoining sitting room. A feature not often found in a floor design of this size.

Two good-sized bedrooms are on the opposite side of the house. They each possess liberal closet space and share a hallway bathroom. For empty nesters, one of these rooms might serve as guest accommodations and the second as a home office, den or sewing room.

If anyone in the house has a hobby or likes to tackle do-it-yourself projects, the two-car garage will become a favorite spot. Two workbenches have been installed to facilitate even the most difficult undertaking. A handy utility room is situated just inside the garage entrance to the house.

For a study kit of the GAIL (335-230LP60), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Be sure to specify plan name & number.) For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.
